Berlin Report Insists That Rus- sian Counter Attack in Poland Has Been Checked With De- cisive Victory.

Reports from Russian sources during the last two days of an important victory in the war with Austria and Germany are at variance with an official statement today from Berlin. The German military authorities have said that the advance to the east remains obscure. There was no indication in today's statement that any results had been obtained by either of the opposing forces.

The official statement speaks confidently of the German operations in the east, saying that a counter offensive Russian movement between the Vistula and Warta has been checked. The scene of many actions had failed.

In the north, in East Prussia, it is said all Russian attacks were repulsed, while similar results are reported to have been obtained against the enemy in the movement against Cracow.

Latest advices from Petrograd make no departure from previous claims of important successes, but the situation in the east remains obscure.

Today's official communication from Paris, Berlin and London concerning the situation in Belgium and France, gave partial confirmation of private reports that Germany is beginning another great effort to break through to the English channel.

Military activity in the west is centered on the line from the Belgian town of Ypres across the border to the English Channel. This latest phase of the war is believed to mark another German effort to push forward to the English channel, and it is said that the battle is blazing forth with all the fury and desperation of the former German attacks.

The Germans have brought up reinforcements and new heavy guns, and it is expected in London that the next few days will be marked by some of the most deadly encounters of the war.

Portugal's decision to send military forces to the aid of the allies when in the opinion of the British government necessary, has been received with enthusiasm throughout the country. There were no indications, however, when this move would be made.

The French war office states that the ground gained by the allies between Longmarier and Zonnebecke, small Belgian towns northeast of Ypres. To the south in the vicinity of La Basse, France, it is said that trenches were dug from the British front line to the German lines. Heavy fighting continues in the Argonne, the outcome of which may decide the fate of Verdun, while German attacks near Verdun are said to have been repulsed.

The German official communication states that aside from some progress made near Arras the situation in the west is unchanged.

According to advices from Nish the Austrians have met with defeat in the invasion of Serbia. Austrian forces in the northern part of the country are reported as having been repulsed with heavy losses.

REICHSTAG ORDERS AN EMERGENCY FUND

Provides Five Billion Marks for Extra- ordinary Expenses in Supple- mentary Budget.

Berlin, via The Hague and London, Nov. 25.—The Reichstag has received a draft of the second supplementary imperial budget for the year 1914. This empowers the imperial chancellor for the purpose of meeting extraordinary expenses again to raise five billion marks in the form of credit. Furthermore, the chancellor is empowered to issue treasury notes up to 400 million marks, and to prescribe by the budget for the temporary strengthening of the ordinary working capital of the imperial treasury. Of this amount one half is destined for the support of individuals with real property, while the other half is to be spent in the support of committees and for the succor of individual cases of distress.

GEN. VON DER GOLTZ REPORTED WOUNDED

German Governor of Belgium Hurt on Visit to Trenches—Russian Duke Wounded.

FRENCH BOAT SUNK BY GERMAN TORPEDO

Steamer Carrying 2,000 Refugees to England Wrecked by Torpedo

London, Nov. 25.—The French steamer Admiral Ganteaume which was sunk October 26 while on her way from Calais to Havre with a great number of refugees aboard, was the victim of a German torpedo, according to admiral's statements issued today. An examination, it is stated, revealed a fragment of the torpedo in the hull of the ship. Though crowded in with two thousand refugees, many of whom were women and children, only forty lives were lost. It was previously thought that the Admiral Ganteaume had hit a mine. Most of the persons aboard the steamer were saved by the channel steamer Queen.

ADVOCATES ORGANIZING PRESS BUREAU FOR DEAF.

Delavan, Wis., Nov. 25.—Prof. Warren Robinson has been requested by J. Cook Howard, president of the National Association of the Deaf, to organize a press bureau for the deaf. His object will be the diffusion of more knowledge concerning the deaf, their education, abilities and achievements. The plan was conceived as a result of the editors of papers published at state schools for the deaf at Staunton, Va., last summer.

THE DINER AND THE DINNER ON THANKSGIVING DAY

AUTO LICENSE TAGS ISSUED NEXT MONTH

Secretary of State Will Be Ready to Accept Applications On December 15.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 25.—No applications for automobile licenses for next year will be accepted by the secretary of state's department before Dec. 15, according to a statement issued today. Several persons have already sent in applications with money, but it has been necessary to return the amounts until the proper time for filing the same. To date 53,141 auto licenses have been issued to individuals, 1,202 to dealers and 7,876 motorcycle licenses. The total amount of money collected from the sale of licenses is $293,677. The individual licenses require a $5 payment; the dealers' licenses $10, and the motorcycle licenses $2. With every license mailed out the following statement, printed in large type is enclosed:

"Plates must be rigidly and securely fastened in a conspicuous place on front and rear of automobile. Plates must not be mutilated and must be kept clean and legible."

"JOHN S. DONALD,
Secretary of State."

JASON HAS ARRIVED OFF ENGLISH COAST

American Christmas Ship Carrying Toys for Children in War Stricken Nations Makes First Stop.

Davenport, England, via London, Nov. 25.—The steamer Jason, carrying toys for children in the belligerent countries from children in the United States, arrived here today. The Jason left New York Nov. 14.

A flotilla of British torpedo boat destroyers flying the American ensign, met the Xmas ship as it entered the harbor. The docking was delayed for some time on account of the dense fog. The Earle of Beauchamp and F. D. Acland, under secretary of foreign affairs, C. A. S. and representatives of the London board of trade were on hand to meet the Jason.

CRIMSON SWIMMERS BEGIN BUSY YEAR

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 25.—Harvard swimmers started regular practice today for the varsity and freshman teams. Meets to the number of two a week have been arranged for the early part of the season with swimming clubs and M. C. A.'s in the city. Later the Crimson will meet Andover and Worcester Academies, Springfield Training School, Amherst, Williams, Columbia, College of the City of New York and Brown. The swimming team will make several days' trip next year.

"EMPLOY A MAN A DAY" IS YOUNGSTOWN SLOGAN

Youngstown, O., November 25.—"Employ a man a day" is a new movement started in Youngstown today by Secretary J. N. Hanson of the Charity organization here. Hanson proposed the plan to the heads of mills and factories here in hope that families of laborers who are out of work might be shielded from want and suffering.

Instead of employing only one man when jobs are open in the mills, superintendents are requested to work the men in shifts of one or even one half day. In this Hanson hopes to save hundreds of families from suffering during the months when work is scarce.

GEORGE WILLIAMSON DIES OF WOUNDS RECEIVED IN BIG EUROPEAN WAR

London, Nov. 25.—The first graduate of American college to be a victim of the war is Lieut. George Williamson, who belongs to the Duke of Wellington's regiment. Mr. Williamson's name appeared in today's casualty list as among those dying from result of wounds.

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 24.—The wireless reported the transport squadron bearing the American expeditionary force home from Vera Cruz a few miles off Galveston today and due to arrive here tomorrow.

TAMMANY PALE FACE WEDS INDIAN MAID?

Head of the Tigers Said to Have Se- lected Cherokee Chief's Daugh- ter for Bride.

New York, Nov. 25.—Interviewers today sought to see Miss Beulah Benton Edmondson, descendant of the Cherokee Indian chieftain, to ascertain from her the truth of a published report that she was to become the bride tomorrow of Richard Crocker, formerly of Tammany Hall.

Miss Edmondson denied herself to callers at the Study Club, where she has made her home for the last year. A woman who represents herself as Miss Edmondson's spokesman, announced to callers that Miss Edmondson had nothing to say "one way or the other."

It was reported that Miss Edmondson, who has been studying here for a year, met Mr. Crocker at the national democratic convention in 1900. Miss Edmondson was one of the leading figures in the suffrage parade in this city in May, 1913, when she appeared as a queen in buckskins and with her long black braids bound in red ribbon, riding astride on an Indian pony.

The wedding of Mr. Crocker is to be solemnized tomorrow, unless present plans be changed. Mr. Crocker is 71 years old and a widower.

GERMAN DIPLOMACY WAR CAUSE--KAISER

London, Nov. 25.—The German emperor, according to a dispatch from the Hague to the Exchange Telegraph company, has ordered Gottlieb von Jagow, the German minister of foreign affairs, to notify all the German diplomatic agents who hitherto have been employed in the countries not at war with Germany, that they can consider themselves free to choose another career.

Swiss newspaper critics, the message adds, state that this sequel seems to indicate that German diplomacy is held responsible for the war.

FIND OSHKOSH MAN FLOATING IN RIVER

Oshkosh, Nov. 25.—The body of Louis Putz, a local meat dealer, was found floating in the Fox river between the Wisconsin avenue and South Line bridges this morning. Foul play is suspected by police.

Mrs. Putz declared her husband had from $80 to $100 in a leather case in the inside pocket of his sheepskin coat. When found there was nothing in the coat pocket. The only money on his person was two silver dollars, a quarter and a dime. There were no outward marks on the body to indicate that he came to death in a violent manner.

Charles M. Schwab, head of the steel trust, has just returned from Great Britain, bringing with him contracts for war munitions aggregating $100,000,000.

CARRIES MESSAGE TO SWEDISH EMBASSY

News Brought From King of Sweden By Special Messenger Too Im- portant for Cable.

New York, Nov. 25.—Per Ostberg, special messenger of the King of Sweden, reached New York this afternoon on the steamship Hellig Olav, from Christiansand, bearing a message from King Gustav to the Swedish embassy at Washington, which he said was too important to trust either to mails or cables. He left at once for Washington. He denied knowledge of the contents of the package he carried and said that it had been sealed personally by the king and entrusted to him a few hours before the steamer sailed.

He thought that the message did not deal with Sweden's neutrality status. "The government has taken ordinary precautions to prevent the transportation through its dominions," he said. "So far as I know Sweden will remain strictly neutral. Everything tends to prove this. For instance, the reservists are being held only for the six weeks' period prescribed annually by law. After they have served their six weeks in the army, they are permitted to return to their occupations."

BOARDS ON RECORD IN REGARD TO LAWS

Forestry Law and County Board of Education Measure Among Those Placed in Disrepute.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 25.—Several county boards of the state are on record this fall as favoring the abolition of certain laws and ordinances affecting the government of their counties. The Onondaga county board wants the forestry law repealed. This calls for the reforesting of portions of several counties in the northeastern part of the state where the state board of forestry has acquired 400,000 acres for a forest reserve. The Barron county board is on record as favoring the passage of a law giving counties the commission form of government. Bills to this end were defeated in the last session of the legislature with the aid of several persons who had served on county boards. The Barron county board also wants repealed the county board of education law enacted two years ago.

COMMISSION STOPS GRAIN RATE BOOST

Suspends New Union Pacific Tariff on Grain From Wisconsin and Iowa to Other States.

Washington, Nov. 25.—Increases on freight rates on grain and grain products proposed on the Union Pacific railroad between the points of Wisconsin and Iowa, and destinations in other states were suspended today by the interstate commerce commission until June 3. The advances vary according to distance, but average approximately eight per cent.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS BOARD WILL MEET NEXT WEEK

Madison, Wis., Nov. 25.—A four day session of the state board of public affairs will be opened next Tuesday and will continue for the rest of the week. The two principal topics to come before the board are the report of the university survey and a report on public printing.

The meeting promises to be one of the more important gatherings of the board, and recommendations on subjects of legislation will probably be made at that time. The university survey has held the attention of the board for two months past, but it now seems probable that most of the work will be finished at this meeting.

FRENCH LOST 623 MEN IN MOROCCO CONFLICT

Berlin, Nov. 25.—The French losses in the recent fighting near Khenifra, Morocco, during the attack on an encampment on mountain tribes, are given today in reports from Madrid, published by the German official press bureau, as 23 officers and 500 men killed.

ZIGMUND ZALK HELD ON LARCENY CHARGE

Fireman of Duluth Scrap Company Al- leged to Have Been Implicated in Copper Plate Theft.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 25.—Alleged to be implicated in the theft of thirty-two Montana copper and nickel plates worth $40,000 stolen a year ago and found at the yard of a Duluth Scrap Iron company, Zigmund Zalk, forty-two years old, foreman for the company, is under arrest on the charge of grand larceny in the first degree.

The suspicion of a day watchman at the iron company and the fact that the heavy metal clippers were being run at night under the cover of darkness, led to the arrest. This man asked the night watchman what was going on at night, and according to police the latter in a panic admitted that a lot of copper plate belonging to Zalk was being cut up. He begged the day watchman not to say anything to the firm about it but the day watchman turned informer.

TRAIN FIRE VICTIMS ARE OUT OF DANGER

None of Persons Burned in C. B. & Q. Accident at Chicago Is Fa- tally Hurt.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Twenty-five of the thirty-eight men trapped and burned in a blazing morning car and suburban train of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad last night, were reported at hospitals today as being out of danger. None was fatally burned.

Witnesses were certain that the fire was caused by an explosion of a box containing moving picture films. Men smoking in the car, it was thought, ignited the films by throwing a lighted match near the box. The explosion was a blinding flash following the explosion and flames quickly enveloped the car, the interior of which was destroyed. Two of the passengers were blown through the windows.

NEW YORK STIRRED BY MURDER MYSTERY

Shooting of Wealthy Poultry Dealer Gives Police a Mystery Equal to Rosenthal Killing.

New York, Nov. 25.—The assassination of Barnett Balf, characterizing as the greatest conspiracy since the murder of Herman Rosenthal, placed a real murder mystery in the central office today for solution. Clegg pointed out that the mystery had so many ramifications that it took on the aspect of a Chinese puzzle.

The victim, a well-to-do independent poultry dealer, was lured to his death by a decoy message given him at six o'clock last night by a young man who entered his place of business in Washington market. Two shots fired in the street killed him. Two men darted away to a waiting automobile.

REMOVE RESTRICTION AT STOCK EXCHANGE

Minimum Price on Practically All Stocks in Chicago Today Were Removed—New Trading Friday.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—The minimum price restriction on practically all stocks traded in the Chicago stock exchange was removed today. Beginning here next Friday trading will be without price restriction except on such securities as are also listed from the New York exchange and closed at $15 a share or lower on July 30.

FORMER PRISON GUARD KILLS TWO PERSONS WHILE SUFFERING FROM INSANITY

San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 25.—William J. Hill, formerly a guard at San Francisco State Prison, who had been insane, today killed two persons and then committed suicide.

President Wilson Bids Americans Give Thanks for Privilege of Peace

President Wilson's Thanksgiving proclamation reads as follows:

"It has long been the honored custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for his many blessings and mercies upon this nation. The year has now drawing to a close since we last observed our day of national thanksgiving has been, while a year of discipline because of the mighty forces of war and of change, have have disturbed the world also a year of special blessing for us.

"It has been vouchsafed to us to remain at peace, with honor, and in some part, to succor the needs of those who are in supply the needs of those who are in our own peace, and self-control in some degree to steady the counsels and shape the hopes and purposes of a day of peace and distress. Our people have looked upon their own life as a nation with a deeper comprehension, a fuller realization of their responsibility as well as of their blessings, and a keener sense of the moral and practical significance of what their part among the nations of the world may come to be.

"The hurtful effects of foreign war in their own industrial and commercial affairs have made them feel the more fully and see the more clearly their mutual interdependence upon one another and has stirred them to a helpful cooperation such as they have seldom practiced before. They have been quickened by a great moral stimulation. Their unselfish, uncalculating ardor for peace, their earnest sympathy for those who are suffering, their readiness to help and to this year the year of others, has revealed them to themselves as well as to the world.

"Our crops will feed all who need food, the self possession of our people amidst the most serious anxieties and difficulties and the steadiness and resourcefulness of our business men will serve other nations as well as our own.

"The business of the country has been supplied with new instrumentalities and the commerce of the world with new channels of trade and intercourse. The Panama canal has been opened to the commerce of the nations. The two continents of America have been bound in closer ties of friendship. New instrumentalities of international trade have been created which will be future instrumentalities of acquaintance, intercourse, and mutual service. Never before have the people of the United States been so situated for their own advancement and the advancement of their neighbors, or so equipped to preserve themselves and mankind.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday the 26th of November next as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease from their wonted occupations and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of peace.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington this twenty-eighth day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and of the independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and thirty-ninth.

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON.
"By the President:

MAY MATCH SCOTTY WITH WILLIAMS HERE

Scotty's Manager Disputes Decision Given "Poscy" Williams Over Young Scotty.

Efforts are being made to match Young Scotty and "Poscy" Williams. For a few days round bout before the lower City Athletic club, to afford Scotty an opportunity of wiping out his decision given him in the Milwaukee six round bout Monday night.

LEAD VICTORIOUS TEAMS IN THE WEST

Capt. Chapman of Illinois (top) and Capt. Rosenthal of Minnesota.

Chapman leads the University of Illinois eleven, which has yet to meet Deloit. Rosenthal captains the Minnesota team, which has had a splendid year, defeating among others the strong team from Wisconsin.

PILGRIM AND INDIAN CHASE FOR JUNIORS

Youngsters at Y. M. C. A. Will Sign Peace Treaty at Conclusion of Chase, to Be Held To-morrow.

The members of the junior department at the Y. M. C. A. will enjoy two hours of real fun tomorrow morning, when the Pilgrim and Indian chase will be held.

The idea was introduced by Associate Secretary MacKenzie, and is as follows: There will be two sides, the Pilgrims and Indians. Chief Sitting Bull, or Merrill Nowlan, has been chosen for the Redskins. The head of the Pilgrims will be chosen tonight.

Promptly at 9:30 o'clock the Pilgrims will be stationed at some certain spot in the city, quite a distance from the association building. At another spot, some distance away from the Pilgrims, the Indians will be spotted. At the sound of a whistle the two sides will get into action with the idea of getting each other's scalps.

The idea is that the boys scatter as much as possible from their own group or band. If by chance a Pilgrim spies an Indian, the Pilgrim must tap the Indian on the back, and in return the Indian hands over a certain number of beans. This will be the case also if a Pilgrim is spied by a Redskin. At ten fifteen the bands are expected to have finished their chase, with the Y. M. C. A. building as their goal. The side holding the largest number of beans will be declared the winner, after which a peace treaty will be signed, much in the same way as the old treaty was signed by the Pilgrim Fathers and their foes, the Redskins. The youngsters are most enthusiastic over the coming chase.

What's the matter with Carlisle?" is the big football question of the year, and even Glenn Warner, the great coach of the Indian eleven, seems unable to make the answer. Not in years has any Carlisle team made as poor a showing as has Warner's 1914 outfit. Carlisle always has had a team that took rank with the greatest in the country. The Carlisle teams of the past crushed the smaller colleges and often played the biggest and strongest sides to a standstill or went further and gave them a beating. But this year it is different. Carlisle was beaten soundly in all of its first six games, and against the type of foes that Carlisle never has considered "easy meat" in the other years. In the first seven games Carlisle scored only 42 points, an average of less than one touchdown an hour. The Carlisle team of 1913 scored almost as many points against the great Dartmouth eleven in one game as has the 1914 eleven in seven games this year against foes that are considered weaklings in comparison with Dartmouth. The strangest part of the Carlisle reversal is the fact that the Carlisle team of 1914 at the outset of the season looked to be just about as good as the 1913 eleven.

John E. Spiegel, the Washington and Jefferson halfback, is another of the wonderful players who have come to the front this year with a grand rush. Spiegel, in all around ability, excels any halfback in the game today. He is only five feet eight inches tall, and weighs a trifling under 150 pounds, yet no line that he has ever rammed could consistently hurt him back. Among the lines that he has rammed this year are the 185-pound Harvard line and the 184 Yale line. Spiegel has no equal as a broken field runner or in circling ends. Mahan, the speedy Harvard halfback, is fast, but Spiegel is a better dodger than Mahan. His ability in dodging shows itself with no appreciable decrease in speed. Spiegel, too, is a great defensive player. He is a fearless tackler.

Great preparations are being made for the winter racing season at Juarez, Mexico, which opens on Nov. 26. The cafe proprietors in El Paso, Texas, across the river from Juarez, have laid in large stocks of high-priced refreshments. The Juarez season will cover 100 days. Stalls have been built to accommodate 1,000 horses, and present indications are that they will all be used.

Kid Williams, the bantamweight champion, is probably one of the busiest boxers in the business, and still you never hear a great deal about his goings. He just keeps plugging away and gets the coin. Williams has no trouble getting matches for the reason that he doesn't care how soft or hard that come. On Nov. 23 he meets Battheyer in Philadelphia, and the following night he battles Frankie Daly in New York. Another Levensky for work!

The bait which is said to have been held out to Lee Magee to do the well-known job to the Cardinals is a contract calling for $20,000 in the next three years. This is in the form of $8,000 salary and $2,000 bonus, aside from the length of the contract, the Federal terms are not as good as the salary Magee received from the Cardinals. Three years' salary at the amount he received in 1912 would amount to $21,600. The three year contract looked good to the Cardinals. And then Boss Britton never mentioned what figures three years' salary would reach. Ball players have a falling for big figures.

Charley Schmidt, former catcher of the Tigers, is in line to be promoted to manager of the Mobile Southern league club. Charley's fine catching helped Mobile keep in the race. He will take Bris Lord's place.

California and Stanford universities, which discarded American football for English rugby a few years ago because the American game was too dangerous, are about ready to flop back to the American game. Open football is considered less dangerous than rugby.

In the topsy turvy whirl of sport, such as we have been experiencing this year, no one paused to remark on the failure of Hans Wagner and Nap Lajoie to hit over 300. Will they come back next season? Or are we to see them again?

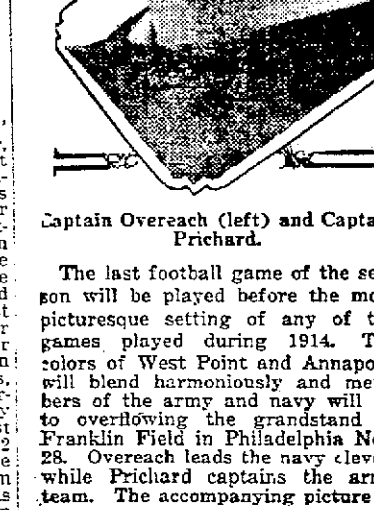

Jack Hatfield, the English swimming champion, established a new 1,000-yard record in a recent attempt in the Corporation Baths, Middleboro, England, covering the distance in thirteen minutes 16 4-5 seconds, beating the world's and English record by eighteen seconds. He was paced throughout by G. W. Leader. The old mark of thirteen minutes 34 4-5 seconds was made by David Billington at Liverpool July 22, 1905.

Including the annual six-day bicycle race, the contestants in races of the Cycle Racing association this year will share in probably $100,000. During the outdoor season Frank L. Kramer, the American champion, won over $10,000. Walter Rutt, the German rider, was second with $5,976. Among the pace followers Bobby Walthour was the heaviest winner with $2,740.

The claim that Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics, champions of the American league, is the only manager to win six championships is disputed. Harry Wright won pennants for Boston in the National association in 1872, 1873, 1874 and 1875, and for Boston in the National league in 1877 and 1878.

Couldn't See Place for "Pa." A prominent Virginian had died, and his daughter in arranging the house for the funeral had gone almost to an extreme in placing palms and ferns and plants in the drawing room—in fact, it had more the appearance of a wedding than a funeral. One of the old daddies came to pay his last respects. "Miss Mae," he said, "dis surely is fine, all dese here trees, but, Miss Mae, where is you going to put your pa?"

ARMY AND NAVY READY FOR BIG BATTLE

The last football game of the season will be played before the most picturesque setting of any of the games played during 1914. The colors of West Point and Annapolis will blend harmoniously and members of the army and navy will fill to overflowing the grandstand at Franklin Field in Philadelphia Nov. 28. Overreach leads the army eleven, while Prichard captains the navy team. The accompanying picture of Captain Prichard was taken at Annapolis a few days ago, while the navy team was practicing in a snow-storm.

Four of the fastest middle-distance runners in America will meet in a special 1,000-yard race in New York November 28. They are Ted Meredith of the University of Pennsylvania, who holds the world's half-mile record; James Powers of the Boston A. A., who holds several Australian titles and records; Homer Baker of the New York A. C., who holds the world's record for 660 yards; and Abel Kiviat, the little one-mile champion of the Irish-American Athletic club.

AT THE MYERS THEATER. There will be four days of vaudeville at the Myers Theater this week, instead of three, starting Thursday. The acts have been specially selected for the holiday occasion. Headed by Willy Zimmerman, who gives impersonations of The Kaiser, the Czar, The King of England, The Emperor of Austria, The King of Servia, the King of Belgium, The President of France and our President Woodrow Wilson. Wilham Sabini and Giovanni Jeanette will give an entire departure in The Follies of Vaudeville. Carlisle and Romer will be seen in refined singing and instrumental work.

"The Trolley of Hearts." Episode number fourteen of this exciting serial will be shown as usual Friday afternoon and evening. One section of this episode shows an auto load of people going over a cliff and there are other thrills.

The Julian Calendar. The great Julius Caesar, B. C. 45, was the first to reform the calendar, by ordering that every year whose date number was exactly divisible by four should contain 366 days, and all other years 365 days. It was Caesar who changed the beginning of the year from the first of March to the first of January. The Julian calendar continued in use until A. D. 1582.

HARRY STONE LEFT N. Y. TWO YEARS AGO A POOR BOY; NOW HE IS BACK WITH A TITLE, A BANK ROLL AND A HOT REPUTATION

U.S. LIGHTWEIGHTS ARE ANNOYED TO LEARN THAT STONE MAY TRAIN DOWN AND ASSAIL THEM

Quite a bit of action is looked for in fight circles this winter

Harry Stone, the new welterweight champ, is not so well known to American fight fans. For the past two years he has been busy in Australia, where he not only acquired the bay leaves but also quite a few nickels as well. Stone has recently returned to America and plans to enliven fight affairs this coming winter. He declares that he may train down a bit and menace the lightweights.

Amusements

AT THE MYERS THEATER. There will be four days of vaudeville at the Myers Theater this week, instead of three, starting Thursday. The acts have been specially selected for the holiday occasion. Headed by Willy Zimmerman, who gives impersonations of The Kaiser, the Czar, The King of England, The Emperor of Austria, The King of Servia, the King of Belgium, The President of France and our President Woodrow Wilson. Wilham Sabini and Giovanni Jeanette will give an entire departure in The Follies of Vaudeville. Carlisle and Romer will be seen in refined singing and instrumental work.

"The Trolley of Hearts." Episode number fourteen of this exciting serial will be shown as usual Friday afternoon and evening. One section of this episode shows an auto load of people going over a cliff and there are other thrills.

The Julian Calendar. The great Julius Caesar, B. C. 45, was the first to reform the calendar, by ordering that every year whose date number was exactly divisible by four should contain 366 days, and all other years 365 days. It was Caesar who changed the beginning of the year from the first of March to the first of January. The Julian calendar continued in use until A. D. 1582.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Fair tonight and probably Thursday warmer southwest and northeast portion tonight, fresh southerly winds.

WITH GRATEFUL HEARTS.

With grateful hearts let all give thanks.

And lands, all stations and all ranks.

And the cry comes up along the way.

For what shall we give thanks today?

For peace and plenty, busy mills.

"The cattle on a thousand hills".

For bursting barns, wherein is stored

The golden grain, a precious hoard;

Give thanks.

For orchards bearing rosy fruit.

For yielding pod and toothsome root

And all that God has decreed was good

In hill or dale or field or wood.

Give thanks.

For water bright and sweet and clear.

A million fountains far and near;

For gracious streamlets, lakes and rills

That flow from everlasting hills;

Give thanks.

For summer dews and timely frost.

The sun's bright beams, not one ray lost;

For willing hands to sow the seed

And reap the harvest, great indeed;

Give thanks.

For hearts and home, love's altar fires;

For loving children, thoughtful sires;

For tender mothers, gentle wives

Who fill our hearts and bless our lives; Give thanks.

For heaven's care life's journey thru.

For health and strength to dare and do.

For ears to hear, for eyes to see

Earth's beautiful things on land and sea.

Give thanks.

—M. A. Kidder in New York Sun.

To this choice list might be added

an anthem of praise and gratitude for the peace which prevails throughout our fair domain, for this occasion for profound thanksgiving.

The day which we celebrate tomorrow will be a day of suffering on many battlefields and in scores of hospitals,

and a day of sad suspense and sorrow

in millions of homes where death has entered because of war.

The nation has never celebrated a

Thanksgiving so fraught with significance as the one we celebrate this year, and while everything about us appeals for old-time gratitude, in abundant measure, the mind can not be divorced from the thought that half the world is so absorbed in strife that Thanksgiving day would seem like a travesty, if it was an old world holiday.

Citizenship under the stars and stripes means more to us this year than it ever meant before, and the man who prays, as well as the man who don't, can well afford to thank God for this priceless heritage.

The war in progress has brought out many things beside the meager

history of battles and battlefields extending across a continent. It has given to the people of this highly favored land a glimpse of how the people live in lands not so highly favored, and as the pictures and stories have told of privation and suffering, of starving wages and serfdom, the comparison between conditions in the old and new world were not difficult to trace.

Some writers said, the other day,

that the population of America included 25,000,000 Germans and their descendants. It also includes a liberal army from every other land

now cursed by war, and while the sympathies of this adopted citizenship are naturally of the federalist, the fact is worthy of note that American citizenship is appreciated as of first importance.

Lounging eyes are turned toward

America today, from the lands devastated by war across the sea, and when peace comes at last the tide of emigration to this fair land will surpass anything ever witnessed.

We ought to thank God tomorrow for American citizenship and ask Him

reverently for wisdom to so guide the ship of state, that the world's great melting pot may continue to be a refuge for the oppressed of every land.

Our gratitude should encourage the spirit of philanthropy, which now possesses us as a people, for the world was never so needy as it is today, and praise and work should go hand in hand.

The prayer that answers itself is always effective, and this is the kind of prayer that is demanded today.

The only way that God can relieve suffering and destitution, in the lands of strife, is through the human hearts and hands that serve Him. Let us lead a hand and be thankful for the disposition and ability.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Thursday we give thanks to the great giver of all blessings for the plentiful crops of the past season, for the peace and prosperity that we as a nation enjoy, little thinking that in so doing we are going back into history to find our precept, that we are following the teachings of our pagan ancestors from time immemorial. To us Thanksgiving is a typical American holiday, but its history reaches far back through the ages almost beyond the ken of man. All civilized nations celebrated with more or less ceremony the gathering of the fruit,

the harvest of the grain and the close of the season's work among the fields.

Among the Hebrews we find the festival took the form of a religious ceremony known as the "Feast of the Ten Days" because during this period

the people lived in tents as their forefathers had, in commemoration of the days when they had no home and were led out of the land of Egypt into the promised land. Yes, and even further back than that when with "Father

Abraham" they journeyed from one land to another, living in tents made of skins and "they went out into the fields and gathered vineyards, trod

the grapes, and held festival and went into the house of the Lord and did

eat and drink."

Even Greece had its festival which corresponds to our Thanksgiving and they gave thanks to "Demeter,"

the goddess of agriculture, and offered sacrifices of grains and fruits upon her altars in thanks for the plentiful crops of the season. True, her symbols were poppies, ears of corn, a basket of fruit, a little pig, and these were offered up during the first three days of the celebration, which lasted ten days in all. Pagan Rome also had its ceremony which took place in October in honor of "Ceres" the goddess of harvests which was preceded by a fast and closed with feasting and rejoicing.

The Druids also had their feasts as did the Saxons, the Goths, the Germans, the Norsemen, in fact all pagan people, and so it has come down to us in this day and generation. An evolution of the early celebration into a day of rejoicing for the plenty the land has given us, a day wherein family

reunions are held and in the homes of descendants of the early Pilgrims of New England, a day which means more than any other holiday of the year.

It was in the little cabin of the Mayflower over three hundred years ago that the inception of the first constitution of the United States, the first draft of the declaration of independence was signed by the sturdy men of refuge from England who sought a new home and religious freedom on this shore. Their first winter was most disastrous to the little colony. Death stalked in their midst. Starvation and disease sat hand in hand in their homes and many died. Yet with the coming of the spring they took new heart. Planted seeds brought from England, and during the long summer prepared for the harvest. It was a plentiful one and these settlers prepared a great feast and sat down to give thanks for all blessings.

Their good friends, the Indians, who had aided them materially with food and advice, were invited and brought with them venison. The pilgrims shot the wild turkey, killed the wild goose and set forth the feast. Nor was the religious feature forgotten. So down through the colonial period, through the revolutionary days, we find the sturdy sons and daughters of England commemorating their annual

Thanksgiving feast. In 1784 a day of Thanksgiving was officially prescribed in recognition of the peace with England. Again in 1879 to give thanks for the establishment of a federal government, in 1795 for the

and in 1815 for the treaty of peace with England. However, it was not until 1863 that the president of the United States took recognition of the day and proclaimed it a holiday.

The New England states had kept the festival since the days of the Pilgrims. New York had followed their example but the nation as a whole

did not accept it until President

Lincoln, in the midst of the war set aside the day as one of general

Thanksgiving and prayer.

In the home the day is observed without regard to race or religious distinction as one of family reunions.

Its observance is distinctively

American. This year we have unusual reason to be thankful. Unusual reason to give songs of praise.

Yet while we are eating our

Thanksgiving feast, Thursday, pause and think of the thousands of widows and orphans in Europe, of the homeless, the sick, the wounded, the dying across the water. Give thanks that we as a nation are at peace with the world, that our harvest has been plentiful and that prosperity crowns

the efforts of our nation.

TWO STORES LOOTED BY "JIMMY" EXPERT

WILBUR SALOON AND BAKER DRUG STORE ENTERED LAST NIGHT BY BURGLAR.

BIG HAUL AT BAKER'S

High Priced Knives, Razors and Fountain Pens and Cash Register Contents Are Stolen.

A "Jimmy" expert "shopped early" in Janesville last night, looting two places, the J. Baker drug store and the George Wilbur saloon, 120 East Milwaukee street, obtaining about two hundred dollars in money and valuables. In both cases the "shopper" evidently had carefully planned his robbery, for he entered the places in the same manner, taking only money from the Wilbur saloon, the cash register contents and high priced knives, razors and pens at the Baker store.

Ingress into the Baker store, at the corner of Franklin and Milwaukee streets, was effected by prying open the window, facing Franklin street, which is in plain view of the street from all sides. The marks left on the window show that the "Jimmy" used must have had two prongs which fitted under the window pane and forced it apart. The force of the instrument broke the window catch, and allowed the thief to raise the window and climb into the small room, used as a medicine cabinet. The thief entered the room, but the intruder had no difficulty in obtaining merchandise that could be easily carried away. About four dollars was taken from the cash register, which was hanging on the wall in front of the store. The most serious loss of the robbery was that the contents of an exhibit case of high priced Parker pens, which was in the front window in display, in plain view of the street, were taken. The intruder lifted the case out of the window, went back to the rear office of the store, lit an electric light, took twenty-five dollars and a cash register around seventy-five or eighty dollars, and left the empty case on the desk.

About thirty pearl handled knives, worth sixty dollars, were taken with great care, as the thief was afraid the knives were discarded on the shelf of the show case. A five dollar Durham-Duplex safety razor and case, two Anson razor razors, valued at five dollars, and a dozen safety razors, worth two dollars apiece, were taken from a case in the rear of the store. With his booty the thief escaped from the store, leaving a window open and a clew for the police to follow.

At the Wilbur saloon, the thief was better protected, breaking his way into the place through the door entering the theatre lobby. Marks on the door show the same kind of a pry was used and the catch lock was broken. The thief must have been in a hurry on this job, for he only took the cash register, finding twelve dollars in change. Besides ten dollars in change, the usual amount left in the register, there was two dollars of nickels, wrapped in paper, which happened to be left there by Mr. Wilbur, who left at eleven o'clock. After taking the money, the register was carefully closed.

No cigars or liquors were taken from the show case or bar-room. As the place was visited on a perfunctory passing on the street could gain plain view into all parts of the saloon, the thief probably did not dare take time to take a look at the liquor. Besides the Baker store robbery, a man named and he was anxious to make the other "call" before train time.

After an investigation Chief of Police Champlin expressed an opinion that one man was guilty of both thefts and had escaped from Janesville on one of the early morning passenger trains to Chicago, where he could dispose of the loot in the big city, evading chances of capture through tracing the stolen goods. The police recently received a card from the Bayfield police who reported that a lone robber had stolen over a hundred dollars in cash from a drug store in the same manner as was done at the Baker store. A description of the goods has been sent to the Chicago detectives, with a bare chance that they may be recovered in time.

Further investigation of the Baker store robbery showed that the skilled thief used a ladder to effect an entrance to the store. The ladder was on the sill show that the two prongs "Jimmy" was used, but without effect. A ladder, six feet in length, with a steel pointed prong was then shoved under the window and the lever broke the lock.

It is certain that the "visitor" had carefully looked over the places he was to rob, and knew the movements of the patrolmen and special night watchmen. Chief Champlin visited the railroad yards this morning in hopes of finding trace of a stranger departing on a freight train.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES DRAINAGE PROBLEM

PLAN TO CONNECT WEST BLUFF
STREET SEWER WITH WALL STREET CONDUIT.

SCHOOL LOAN ORDERED

Authorize Seven Thousand Dollar
Loan to Take Care of Current Expenses Until Taxes Are Available.

Methods of connecting the drainage sewer on West Bluff street with the larger sewer on Wall street, to carry all the surface water of the Bluff street sewer directly to the river, were discussed by the council at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon. Such connections will eliminate all drainage water going into the raceway on North River street, which is private property. The Blodgett Milling Company have, in recent years, filed several complaints with the council against the accumulation of drainage debris in the raceway.

Today the council made investigations of the most practical system of connecting the two sewers and the work will probably be ordered at an early meeting. This time of the year the commission will take up improvements to be made next summer, and pass resolutions to make them effective. This will enable them to draw the money from the city treasury during the winter months, saving valuable working time.

At yesterday's meeting the salary list, payable from the general fund, was allowed to be drawn for the amount. The order for the bills for labor and material for the past two weeks for city employees and uses were approved and filed. The total amount was $7,942.78, which was distributed in the following manner: General, $2,241.21; fire and water, $3,798.98; bridge, $2,521.41; first ward, $745.00; second ward, $755.50; third ward, $1,417.81; fourth ward, $1,016.15; fifth ward, $233.90.

The bridge and fifth ward funds were unusually large, due to the repairing of the Monterey bridge and the construction of the Pleasant street sewer.

The balances in the treasury funds are as follows: General, $19,475.96; fire and water, $7,246.78; bridge, $9,702.41; first ward, $4,812.84; second ward, $4,077.97; third ward, $1,016.15; fourth ward, $2,472.42; fifth ward, $994.48. The low amount of money in the Fourth ward fund will prevent further improvement work in this district, but superintendent of Streets, P. J. Goodman reported that the ward was in good condition.

City Clerk Hammarlund was ordered to draw an order on the city treasurer, payable to the city of Janesville, for five hundred dollars in favor of the Palmer Memorial Mercy Hospital. This amount is due on the city contract with the hospital for city contracts and is due on the city contract of July 1st, 1934. Complaints were raised by the commission that the contract had been infringed upon during the last year by people of good financial standing, who obtained hospital treatment under city charity. An understanding has been reached between the commission and the hospital officials that will eliminate this trouble in the future.

The request of the board of education asking the council to borrow seven thousand dollars and place the amount to the credit of the school fund was received and filed. A petition was necessary, the petition stated, to meet the immediate needs of the board, and would be paid from the tax levy when collected. A resolution was passed instructing the city engineer to borrow the amount and place the credit to the present school fund. The board of education have borrowed a total of ten thousand dollars, the council authorizing a three thousand dollar loan a month ago.

City Engineer C. V. Ketch was directed to purchase standard book and filing cases for use in his office vault. The contract will be given after bids are received.

The communication from M. Goodman, addressed to the Janesville Traction company, asking for a damage settlement in an accident to an automobile, was read and filed. The letter read that a November fifteen car owned by Goodman was damaged through a defect in the crossing plate on Holmes and Franklin street.

READY FOR CUT-OVER

Service in Compliance With Railroad Commission's Order Will Be Given, Starting Friday.

At midnight Thursday the cut-over will be made between the exchanges of the Rock County Telephone Company and the Wisconsin Telephone Company, so that beginning Friday morning the one company will be able to serve the patrons of the other if it is so desired.

The physical connection between the two local exchanges will be made in accordance with an order of the state railroad commission, which has also provided a schedule of rates to be charged all subscribers who take advantage of the interchange of service. A fee of five cents will be charged for making a connection from one exchange to the other. This applies to local service, both city and county subscribers, and to long distance calls within a radius of fifty miles. The service fee of five cents is made in addition to the regular long distance rates in the case of all toll connections. Long distance service beyond fifty miles the connection fee is ten cents, and for over the one hundred mile limit the fee is fifteen cents.

According to the arrangement made between the two companies, the part of the independent company with the toll exchanges of the Bell company within Wisconsin, as the railroad commission has no power to require service outside of Wisconsin.

When the physical connection between the two Janesville exchanges is put into operation, it will be the second instance in this state. The first being the first city to secure the physical connection service. There the exchanges have been connected since last August.

Four trunk lines have been put up to take care of the business between the two Janesville exchanges. In case these lines are not sufficient others can easily be stretched, but the amount of call for service from one exchange to the other is entirely a matter of conjecture. No extra operators will be needed at either office. It is thought probable that a good many Rock county subscribers will exchange themselves for the advantage of using the Bell toll lines to points not reached by the Rock County Company, and there will also be considerable call for local exchange service.

The commission's order and schedule is not entirely satisfactory to the two companies, either of which may take an appeal from the decision within ninety days. In that event the case will be taken to the state supreme court.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"A MASCULINE, THANK THE LORD."

THE following remarkable letter, written by one woman to another, was sent me by a letter friend who found it among some papers which came into his possession. So I think it is without question a genuine letter.

I wonder if it will make your blood boil the way it did mine. "Dear Madam," it runs, "I have in my service at present a former household maid of yours, M. B. I discovered by chance the other day that she has in her possession a pair of fine Maltese lace cuffs or sleeve borders which I charged her with having appropriated. She told me that they were part of a lace set that her father gave her when she was married, at which statement I could only be amused.

"She has absolutely no idea of their value, for she wears them on a common dress under very common black lace. I told her that if she would say to whom they belonged I would restore them and say no more about it. I am sure some one regrets having lost them, and as I know she was with you for some time I thought it might be possible that they were yours. In any case I consider it my duty to let you know. I have discharged her in consequence of her refusal to admit the theft, as I told her that such lace was quite out of place in the possession of anyone working in my kitchen.

So kindly let me hear from you as soon as possible, as she will be leaving my house in a few days. The letter friend who sent me that letter signed himself "A masculine, thank the Lord."

After reading it I didn't much blame him. Of course there are plenty of women who are incapable of accusing another on such vague grounds. Nevertheless I fear that the habit of jumping at unjust conclusions with no real grounds to jump from, is inherently feminine.

Just the other day a woman told me that a man who is suspected of drinking had been on a drunk on a certain day. I asked her how she knew and she told me that she had been to his house on business and his son had told her he was sick and that she could not see him.

The idea that he might really be sick apparently never entered her head. And what was worse, instead of stating the facts and pointing out the inference which she drew from them, she went about stating her inferences as facts, and entirely omitting to mention the actual facts in the case. Of course he may have been intoxicated; personally I think he probably was, but she didn't know that he was, and not knowing she had no right to say so.

The law requires that an accused man shall be proved guilty. It does not assume his guilt and ask him to prove himself innocent. We call the law hard. What about the woman who assumes the guilt of anyone she suspects and does not even give him a chance to prove himself innocent.

should be very careful how I accepted an invitation again.

(4) Buttermilk is as good as anything to take off freckles, and it is harmless.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) When do you get your beauty sleep, before 10 o'clock or before 12 o'clock?

(2) What is your good recipe for fudge? My fudge never gets hard. How can I remedy this defect?

(3) Is there any harm in letting a boy friend walk home with you?

(4) All sleep that you get before 12 o'clock is beauty sleep.

(5) The reason your fudge does not get hard is because you do not cook it enough. When the candy will form a ball that you can roll with your fingers when you drop it in ice water it is ready done. If you allow it to cool a little before beginning to beat it you will find it will be less apt to grain. You must rub all graining particles from the sides of the bowl with a small piece of cloth dipped in ice water. That also prevents graining.

(6) Certainly not.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THURSDAY DINNERS

Wisconsin Grown Products Together Make a Tempting Menu—A Novel Idea for Badger Citizens.

Have you planned your Thanksgiving dinner? If not, here's a suggestion: Let your entire menu, from the soup to the dessert, be made up of Wisconsin grown products. It will be a pleasant surprise to your family and guests when you announce that with the exception of salt, every article has been produced in the Badger State.

As the head of the house juggles with the carving knife you may hear him remark that the turkey he is slicing attained its enormous bulk on a nearby farm. Mother will pass around the potato dish, heaped with steaming home-grown tubers; they may follow the buttered peas and the pungent onions—also famous natives; when sister comes in with the cranberry sauce we may think of the "marsh lands of the Wisconsin river valley; even small brother may take the time to volunteer the information that the hickory nuts and the mince pie were home grown and home made.

Just to prove that it can be done, and that it would be an easy matter to prepare a dinner—in fact, several of them—out of grown in Wisconsin products, Miss L. M. Scoville of the Home Economics department, College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, has arranged the following simple and palatable menus for the big November feast day:

and coat of paint to cover the cloth, let paint dry thoroughly and the basket will not leak again in that spot.

New Use for Old Chenille Curtains—Ravel, cutting the warp each inch or two; wind four strands on a ball, weaving, weaving, the four strands will be used as a sort of rag, using a fine dark-colored warp. With a little skill in arranging colors, a fine Smyrna rug can be made.

To Clean White Fur—Buy ten cents' worth of plaster of paris and spread the article to be cleaned lightly with it, rubbing with a soft brush. Repeat if necessary. This will clean much better than cornmeal and can be done in a few minutes. It will also clean white plush or heavier furs.

THE TABLE.
Lemon Syrup—Required: Three lemons, two pounds white sugar, two ounces citric acid, and strained juice of three lemons. Add one and one-half pints boiling water. Stir till sugar and acid are thoroughly dissolved; bottle and cork tightly. One tablespoonful to a glass of water or soda water.

Bread Dumplings—One cup grated bread, one cup chopped suet, half teaspoon baking powder, two-thirds cup sugar, two eggs, one cup milk and one teaspoon salt. Sift baking powder and flour together, add beaten eggs, bread crumbs, and sugar, suet and milk; form into smooth batter. Drop balls by spoonfuls into boiling milk (about a pint) and when cooked pour over them the remaining milk.

Cherry Dumplings—One cup sweet milk, two teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt, flour enough to make a very stiff dough. Add one quart canned cherries, boilings, drop into boiling fruit the batter, one spoonful at a time; cover and boil ten minutes or till done. Any fruit can be used.

Sweet Potato a la Province—Slice raw sweet potatoes thin and lay in a dish with bits of butter; sprinkle with salt and pepper, pour over milk to cover. Wet bread crumbs in cream, add a beaten egg, pour over top. Set in oven and bake until done.

Chocolate Tea Cake (cheap by delicious; bake in loaf—One cup sugar, one-half cup lard; cream together and add one egg beaten light, two cups thick soured milk, and when cooked cups flour; sift in four two heaping teaspoons cocoa, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cornstarch and one-half teaspoon salt. This is fine for kiddies' lunch also.

Fruit Pudding—Place sliced fruit (fresh, canned or dried) in an oiled baking dish. Cover fruit with a biscuit mixture, made by using two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half cup sugar, one cup milk or water. Bake until fruit is tender and batter firm and brown—usually from 15 to 30 minutes. With a fork break into pieces, then serve with cream or fruit sauce. Plain cream may be sweetened with vanilla and whipped.

Fruit Sauce—This sauce can be made by mixing cornstarch, sugar and a little flour. Add to the about a cup of boiling water. Flavor with any fruit juice. If a strong fruit flavoring is desired, substitute for part of the water the juice of the fruit.

THE TEA AND COFFEE TRADE JOURNAL says: "Maté, while being the chief beverage of twenty million people of South America, is very little known to the people of North America. This is most singular and surprising in our day, when all kinds of chemically prepared substitutes are offered as beverages to supplant natural products.

"One has but to turn to Nature for the solution of the problem—healthful vs. unhealthful beverages—and find in Maté a real reservoir of health and vigor; for in Maté is found a product against which no scientific voice has been raised in protest. Maté has no deleterious effects even if taken in excess, but, on the contrary, possesses many most excellent qualities; it aids digestion, soothes the nerves and gives immediate activity to the brain. In countries where it is used extensively, such diseases as gout and rheumatism are unknown."

Woodley's Maté is recommended to those who are trying to satisfy themselves with "light drinks," "substitutes" and chemically prepared "harmless" drinks. Woodley's Maté has a delicious, satisfying taste. Its flavor is unsurpassed. You can buy Woodley's Maté from your grocer.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Oh, pa! Joe and Agnes and the baby are coming to spend Thanksgiving with us. We shall see our brand new grandchild," said Mrs. Peters, looking up from the letter she was reading and beaming with happiness.

"I suppose that means I shall have to drive into town for some supplies," said the placid old gentleman, seating himself on the other side of the stove, laying his knees and holding out his hands to the blaze.

"Yes, indeed. I suppose I must send in my turkeys when you go," she replied, a shadow flitting across her face. "It is like paring with members of the family. I can pick them up anywhere and carry them around. They take to me with little drowsy thrushes. No one else can touch them, through," and Mrs. Peters went to the window and looked dolefully out at her pets.

"They are so tall they stare me right in the eye," said her husband. There's another reason for getting rid of the gobblers. They swell and gobble ferociously at all children. Mary's little girl would be scared to death. You remember how they took after the Stone children?" and he chuckled reminiscently.

The old lady smiled as she turned from the window. "I had to take a switch to them," she said, smoothing back her snowy hair with the palms of her hand.

"Now, it ain't fair for you to buy this Thanksgiving dinner with the turkey money. That's your own private gold mine. Your share will be furnishing a gobble for the feast, and he smiled up at her as she stood by his chair.

"I'll donate the fine big fellow with the bronze tail, most as handsome as any of her hand."

GET THE STAGE SECRET OF HEALTHY HAIR

Though wigs are often used in special parts played by actresses, it is a notable fact that they all have beautiful, natural hair which is the result of sensible care only. Their only secret is care. Not strenuous, but regular. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth. Advertisement.

"Yes, and the butternuts, black walnuts and hickory nuts are dry enough to use. Little Joe hunts for hamper and from the minute he gets his coat off," said the grandmother, settling herself in lap to pare the potatoes.

"I guess the water pail is about empty and the tea kettle needs filling," she added, seeing he was preparing to take off his coat.

"All right," he answered cheerfully. "I'll look in and see how the oat box looks. I want to eat their dinner."

"Trust you for that," she answered laughing. "If those horses don't get fat hearts it won't be your fault."

Cracks in furniture should be filled with beeswax. Soften the beeswax until it becomes like putty, then press it firmly into the cracks, and smooth the surface over with a thin knife. Sandpaper the surrounding wood, and work some of the dust into the beeswax. This gives a finish to the wood, and when it is varnished the cracks will have disappeared. Putty used in the same way soon dries and falls out.

THE YELLOW PERIL

Japanese Warnings.

The Japanese early sought for the truth, and their earliest knowledge was the principle that their strength depended on a healthy stomach. They eat very little and practice "Jiu-Jitsu"—muscular exercise. Jiu-Jitsu is the stomach is the center of the body, from which radiates our vitality, strength, our fighting strength. A healthy stomach turns the food we eat into nourishment for the blood stream and the nerves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery refreshes and tones up the stomach walls. Removes the poisonous gases from the system.

The first day you start to take this reliable medicine, impure germs and accumulations begin to separate in the blood and are then expelled through the Liver, Bowels and Kidneys.

In place of the impurities, the arteries and veins gradually get fresh vitalized blood and the action of this good blood on the skin means that pimples, boils, carbuncles, eczema, rash, acne and all skin blemishes will disappear. Then you must remember that when the blood is right, the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys become healthy, active and vigorous and you will have no more trouble with indigestion, backache, headache and constipation.

Get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery today at any medicine dealer. It is a powerful blood purifier, so penetrating that it even gets at the impure deposits in the joints and carries them out of the system.

It is not a secret remedy for its ingredients are printed on wrapper.

For free advice or free booklet on blood, write Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

FACE A SIGHT WITH ERUPTION RESINOL CURED

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 5, 1913: "I had a small pimple on the side of my face, and it kept getting larger and larger. It had spread over one cheek, and as it would spread water would come from it and every place the water would touch, another sore would form. It itched and burned and my face was a sight. I used several salves and ointments that were recommended, but none helped, until I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, which relieved me at once, and after using it about two weeks, my face was entirely clear. I cannot praise Resinol enough." (Signed) Mrs. Rose Muller, 1313 Snyder Ave.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol for fifteen years and every drug store sells Resinol Soap (25c.), and Resinol Ointment (50c. and 25c.). Don't be deceived by the useless "substitutes." For free trial, write to Dept. K.S., Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

"It's what I'm a-bonin' fer," he admitted at last. "Hit's what I'd give half my life fer. . . I must sell my land, an' raise the money. I reckon hit would take passels of money, wouldn't hit?" He paused, and his eyes fell on the rifle leaning against the tree. His lips tightened in sudden remembrance. He went over and picked up the gun, and, as he did so, he shook his head.

"No," he stolidly declared; "every man to his own tools. This here's mine."

Yet, when they were again out sketching, the temptation to play with brushes once more seized him, and he took his place before the easel. Neither he nor Lescott noticed a man who crept down through the timber, and for a time watched them. The man's face wore a surly, contemptuous grin, and shortly it withdrew.

But, an hour later, while the boy was still working industriously and the artist was lying on his back, with a pipe between his teeth, and his half-closed eyes gazing up contentedly through the green of overhead branches, their peace was broken by a guffaw of derisive laughter. They looked up, to find at their backs a semicircle of scoffing humanity. Lescott's impulse was to laugh, for only the comedy of the situation at the moment struck him. A stage director, setting a comedy scene with that most ancient of jests, the gawking of boobies at some new sight, could hardly have improved on this tableau. At the front stood Tamarack Spicer, the returned wanderer. His lean wrist was stretched out of a ragged sleeve all too short, and his tattered "jimmy" was shoved back over a face all a-grin. His eyes were blood-shot with recent drinking, but his manner was in exaggerated and comical imitation of a rural master of ceremonies. At his back were the raw-boned men and women and children of the hills, to the number of a dozen.

"Ladies and gentlemen," announced Tamarack Spicer, in a hiccupping voice, "swing yo' partners an' sashay forward. See the only son of the late Henry South engaged in his marvelous an' heretofore undiscovered occupation of doin' fancy work. Ladies and gentlemen, after this here show is concluded, keep your seats for the concert in the main tent. This here famous performer will favor ye with a little exhibition of plain an' fancy sock-dorin'."

After the first surprise, Samson had turned his back on the group. He was mixing paint at the time and he proceeded to experiment with a fleeting cloud effect, which would not outlast the moment. He finished that, and, reaching for the palette-knife, scraped his fingers and wiped them on his trousers' legs. Then, he deliberately rose.

Without a word he turned. Tamarack had begun his harangue afresh. The boy tossed back the long lock from his forehead, and then, with an unexpectedly swift movement, crouched and leaped. His right fist shot forward to Tamarack Spicer's chattering lips, and they abruptly ceased to chatter as the teeth were driven into their flesh. Spicer's head snapped back, and he staggered against the onlookers, where he stood rocking on his unsteady legs. His hand swept instinctively to the shirt-concealed holster, but, before it had connected, both of Samson's fists were playing a terrific tattoo on his face. The inglorious master of the show dropped, and lay groggily trying to rise.

The laughter died as suddenly as Tamarack's speech. Samson stepped back again, and searched the faces of the group for any lingering sign of mirth or criticism. There was none. Every countenance was sober and expressionless, but the boy felt a weight of unuttered disapproval, and he glared defiance. One of the older onlookers spoke up reproachfully.

"Samson, ye hadn't hardly ought ter a-done that. He was jest a funnin' with ye."

"Git him up on his feet. I've got somethin' ter say ter him." The boy's voice was dangerously quiet. It was his first word. They lifted the fallen cousin, whose entertainment had gone astray, and led him forward grumbling, threatening and sputtering, but evincing no immediate desire to renew hostilities.

"What hev ye been?" demanded Samson.

"That's my business," came the familiar mountain phrase.

"Why wasn't yer hyar when them dawgs come by? Why was ye the only South that runned away, when they was smellin' round ter Jesse Purry's assassin?"

"I didn't run away," Tamarack's blood-shot eyes flashed wickedly. "I knowed that ef I stayed 'round hyar with them damned Hollmans stickin' their noses inter our business, y'd hurt somebody." So, I went over inter the next county fer a spell. You fellers must be able to take things often the Hollmans, but I hain't."

"That's a damned lie," said Samson, quietly. "Ye runned away, an' ye runned in the water so them dawgs couldn't trail ye—ye done hit because ye shot them, shoots at Jesse Purry from the laurel—because ye're a truce-bustin', murderin' bully that shoots off his face, an' is skeered to fight." Samson paused for breath, and went on with regained calmness. "I've knowed all along ye was the man, an' I've kept quiet because ye're my kin. If ye're got anythin' else ter say, say hit. But, ef I ever ketches yer talkin' about me, or talkin' ter Sally, I'm agoin' ter take ye by the scruff of the neck, an' drag ye plumb into Hixon, an' stick ye in the jailhouse. An' I'm a-koin' ter tell the high sheriff that the South spits ye outen their mouths. Take him away." The crowd turned and left the place. When they were gone, Samson seated himself at his easel again, and picked up his palette.

"Ye're a Truce-Bustin', Murderin' Bully."

CHAPTER VI.

Lescott had come to the mountains anticipating a visit of two weeks. His accident had resolved him to shorten it to the nearest day upon which he felt capable of making the trip out to the railroad. Yet June had ended; July had burned the slopes from emerald to russet-green; August had brought purple tops to the ironweed, and still he found himself lingering. And this was true although he recognized a growing sentiment of disapproval for himself. In Samson he thought he recognized twin glints; a spark of a genius too rare to be allowed to flicker out, and a potentiality for constructive work among his own people, which needed for its perfecting only education and experience.

"Samson," he suggested one day when they were alone, "I want you to come East. You say that gun is your tool, and that each man must stick to his own. You are in part right, but wrong. A man uses any tool better for understanding other tools. You have the right to use your brains and talents to the full."

The boy's face was somber in the intensity of his mental struggle, and his answer had that sullen ring which was not really sullenness at all, but self-repression.

"I reckon a feller's biggest right is to stand by his kinfolks. Unc' Spicer's gittin' old. He's done been good ter me. He needs me here."

"I appreciate that. He will be older later. You can go now, and come back to him when he needs you more. If what I urged meant disloyalty to your people, I could cut out my tongue before I argued for it. You must believe me in that. I want you to be in the fullest sense your people's leader. I want you to be not only their Samson—but their Moses."

The boy looked up and nodded.

"I reckon ye aims ter be friendly, all right," was his conservative response.

"I realize that I am urging things of which your people disapprove, but it is only because they misunderstand that they do disapprove. They are too close, Samson, to see the purple that mountains have when they are far away. I want you to go where you can see the purple. If you are the sort of man I think, you won't be beguiled. You won't lose your loyalty. You won't be ashamed of your people."

"I reckon I wouldn't be ashamed," said the youth. "I reckon there hain't no better folks nowher."

"I'm sure of it. There are going to be sweeping changes in these mountains. Conditions here have stood as immutably changeless as the hills themselves for a hundred years. That day is, at its twilight. I tell yo know what I'm talking about. The state of Kentucky is looking this way. The state must develop, and it is here alone that it can develop. Here are virgin forests and almost inexhaustible coal veins. Capital is turning from an orange squeezed dry, and casting about for fresher food, Capital has seen your hills. Capital is inevitable, relentless, omnipotent. Where it comes, it makes its laws. Conditions that have existed undisturbed will vanish. The law of the feud, which militia and courts have not been able to abate, will vanish before capital's breath like the mists when the sun strikes them. Unless you learn to ride the waves which will presently sweep over your country, you and your people will go under. You may not realize it, but that is true. It is written."

The boy had listened intently, but at the end he smiled, and in his expression was something of the soldier who scents battle, not without welcome.

"I reckon if these here fellers air a-comin' up here ter run things, an' drowned out my folks, hit's a right good reason fer me ter stay here—an' hain't my folks."

Dinner Stories

"Will you have the kindness to take my overcoat to town in your automobile?" inquired Mr. Dalton of his more prosperous suburban neighbor one cool morning.

"Certainly," was the response, "but how will you get it again?"

"Very easily; I shall remain in it."

A turkey one day observed a peacock in the farm yard and immediately began to find fault with it.

"You vain, conceited bird," said the turkey, "you are proud of your looks, and yet you are of no value in the economy of nature. Why do you strut around and regard all others with disdain?"

"You make a mistake," replied the peacock. "I am not now admiring myself, though I should be excused for doing so. Next Thursday is Thanksgiving, and I was merely indulging a cake-walk because I am not a big, fat turkey like you."

"That's nice. What did you do?" "I went to see my aunt, and she's always happy when I go home again."

Why grin and bear all these ills when Sloan's Liniment kills pain?

"I have used your Liniment and can say it is fine. I have used it for sore throat, strained shoulder, and it acted like a charm."—Allen Dunn, Route 1, Box 88, Pine Valley, Miss.

"I am a painter and paperhanger by trade, consequently up and down ladders. About two years ago my left knee became lame and sore. It pained me at nights at times till I could not rest, and I was contemplating giving up my trade on account of it when I chanced to think of Sloan's Liniment. I had never tried it before, and I am glad to state that less than one 25c. bottle fixed me up apparently as good as ever."—Charles C. Campbell, Florence, Texas.

DESCRIPTIONS OF DARDANELLES AND AUSTRIAN GALICIA

National Geographic Society's War
Primer on Two Leading War Centers of Interest.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—The National Geographic Society, of this city, today gave out the following city conditions of the Dardanelles and Austrian Galicia, which are figuring prominently in the war in Europe.

Even political interest since the time around the Dardanelles was tested when the soldiers of free Greece, who came this way with their vast army for the Dardanelles, then known as the Hellespont, over a pontoon across the strait called for the most historic spanning ever given. They carried away the pontoons, whereupon the Greeks ordered the Hellespont to be closed.

When the eastern invasion had begun, the Dardanelles became a point of departure for the hungry conquerors in 334 B. C., 145 years later, Xerxes, crossed in the path of Alexander the Great, and began his successful subjugation of the outworn East. The tide shifted, and the struggle of Byzantium against the East, the Dardanelles ever and again frontier waters. At last, in 1356, the Turks forced themselves over the much-contested boundary, guard over its Bosphorus banks, and settled down to stay.

No longer a frontier of Eastern-Western struggle, the Dardanelles, nevertheless, pressed their political importance, derived from the Turkish control of Mediterranean-Black Sea commerce, and, later, from the complex diplomatic game in which the great powers of Europe sought to balance themselves against the alliance and each to make that balance contribute to its own advantage. Mighty Russia's only ports upon warm water were in her Black Sea territory. Conventions of the Dardanelles, however, have held her shut up fast within the inland sea. For a century these conventions have stood between Russia and her ambitions to have an outlet on the Mediterranean.

In a five-power treaty in 1841, it was arranged that no ship of war of any nation other than the Ottoman should pass the Dardanelles without express permission of the great powers. In 1871 and at Berlin in 1878, even merchant vessels must have passes, which they are required to show to the authorities. The boats must pass through the strait during the daytime, yet they are required to pay a small lighthouse fee.

The strait is a narrow, irregular channel, connecting the Aegean Sea with the Sea of Marmora. It cuts through the land from the southwest to northeast. It is only about forty-five miles long, while it varies in width from one to five miles. Its average depth is 100 feet. Upon the Asiatic side, the shores are steep and barren, and their inhospitable line of battery-crowned rocks makes the Dardanelles a place for unusually strong defense. The shores on the Asiatic side are long and narrow, and the fertile part part being clothed with beautiful forests. The Dardanelles guard the approach to Constantinople from the Mediterranean, as the Bosphorus guards the approach to the city from the Black Sea. They were first fortified by two castles, one on either shore, in the path of Xerxes and Alexander, built by Mohammed II in 1462. These have been often remodeled. During the Turkish wars, with Turkish power on the wane, and the Turk himself, apparently acquiescent, the remodeling and extending of the old fortifications was brought about by the French, English, and German, pointing toward the Golden Horn.

Austrian Galicia.

Most of old Poland which survives, in race and in political consciousness, is typical culture and in folkways, and in the Austrian crownland of Galicia. Under the more sternly repressive rule of Russian and German overlordship, the Poles in Russia and Germany have been reduced to a small, almost negligible, stronghold of national feeling. They are becoming half-hearted Russians and Germans, for Austria and Germany have done all in their power to annihilate the well-known and estimable Poles in Galicia, however, with a constitution of their own, under a perplexed and lenient central government, a consciousness of old Poland remains, and has grown in intensity in recent times.

Hemmed in by Russia on the north and east by the suspicious border patrol, naturally cut off from Hungary on the south and southwest by the Carpathians, barely touching its sovereign Austria, on the west, the Galician Poles have been left to himself, to the single-handed solution of his own difficulties, political, economic and administrative, with little to prod him into violent industrial exertion, he has continued the past into the present, with its quaint customs, its devotion to agriculture, and its poverty-stricken idealism.

Galicia slopes away from the Carpathians plain on the north. Its southern uplands are devoted largely to grazing grounds for horses, cattle and sheep. In the middle and eastern fields in Europe, and good zinc mines and rock salt quarries are worked. Its mineral wealth has small significance. The forests, which are estimated to cover one-quarter of the whole surface of Galicia, contribute to a large lumber trade with Germany.

Most of its manufactured articles are the products of home industry, though there is a budding of textile industry and its oil refineries are important. About 77 per cent of its people depend directly upon the soil. They are mostly illiterate, small farmers and day laborers, who pass the severe winters at home, and regularly leave their wives to work the farm in summer while they seek out bare livelihoods by taking seedtime and harvest service upon the German farms across their western border. Galicia is practically self-governing, the Vienna government interfering but little in Polish affairs. Some 154 representatives are sent by the people to the Galician Diet at Lemberg, while the crownland is represented in the Austrian Lower House by 78 delegates. Galicia, therefore, which generally holds solidly together for the interests of the Polish people. In normal times, the population of Galicia is more than 7,000,000.

ERA OF SPIRITUAL PROSPERITY COMING

Church Must Keep Pace With Revival
In Business Enterprise Says
Chicago Clergyman.

Predicting an era of spiritual prosperity akin to the certain revival of business and industry which the United States is about to experience as a result of the European war, Dr. William T. Covert, pastor of a Presbyterian church in Chicago, made an appeal for further activity on the part of the Christian church in an address last evening to the local Presbyterian brotherhood.

In Dr. Covert's opinion the awakening on the part of the men of the church, already come and as a result, Christianity has taken a stronger, more virile and potent position with a more vigorous appeal in every direction. He told of his own experience in securing the cooperation and services of men very influential in civic and business affairs, but who had in late years paid little attention to church affairs. Now they are among the most active men in his congregation.

Dr. Covert declared that the great demand in the church today is for leaders, men who are willing to grasp the opportunities of leadership and pay the price which is demanded. There are too few who are willing to undergo the rigorous course of training which is required in the education for leadership. Men of the church, he said, must learn to make sacrifices and assume their just share of the church burdens.

Much has been heard in the present war of the terrible havoc wrought by the shrapnel shell. This is a hollow steel projectile, packed with bullets and containing a charge of powder in the base. It is exploded by a time fuse, containing a ring of slowly burning composition which can be set so as to fire the powder during the flight of the shell. When it has traveled to within 50 yards of the enemy, the head is blown off and the bullets are projected forward in a sheet, spreading outwards as they go. The British shrapnel shell covers a space of ground some 300 yards long by 35 yards wide with its 365 heavy bullets. The shrapnel shell was not fully introduced until after the Franco-Prussian war.

Of late years a shell which combines the action of the shrapnel and the high-explosive shell has been introduced. This is the British "Universal" shell. It is a shrapnel with a detachable head filled with high-explosive. When burst during flight it acts like a shrapnel and sweeps the ground in front of it; at the same time the head, with its explosive burster, flies forward and acts as a small but efficient high-explosive shell. These projectiles have been introduced for howitzers and for anti-aircraft guns, and some of the nations with new equipments, such as the Balkan states, have chosen to use the "Universal" shell. Its introduction has, however, been delayed in western Europe, as they are less efficient as such than the ordinary shrapnel, which is considered the principal field artillery projectile.

INTENSITY OF SUN HEAT NOW MEASURED

In his laboratory at the University of Wisconsin, Eric R. Miller, lecturer in meteorology, and local weather forecaster, has two unusual instruments. His pyrheliometer, used in measuring sun rays, is one of the United States today; while the Callender recorder, as applied to the measurement of the intensity of sun heat, has only two fellows in this country and one in Canada.

Miller makes a careful record of solar and sky radiation—sun light, sun heat, and sky light. Banks of clouds give a large area of reflected light and increase the radiation and intensity of radiation factors give this knowledge in calories, so that it is entirely practicable to compute just how many calories of heat a particular summer day or a particular season may hold. The Callender recorder has been used for some time in the industries—potteries, canneries, etc., to determine the exact temperature worked with, so that it has been developed to a high state of efficiency for application to the measurement of sun energy. It is now used for this purpose in Washington, D. C., Madison, Wisconsin, Tucson, Arizona, and Toronto, Canada. The pyrheliometer is in use in Washington, Madison, Lincoln, Nebraska, and Santa Fe, New Mexico.

While we have not yet arrived at the full comparative stage because the use of such instruments is not sufficiently widespread, says Professor Miller, "this work is quite important in the field of agriculture. By its accurate data may be secured for the comparison of seasons. This means that much more intelligent work may be done in plant introduction, as seasonal totals of the energy of the plant's native environment and that of the place to which it is desired to transplant it.

Keep Your Lungs Strong

This advice is doubly important with the knowledge that every three minutes some one in the United States succumbs to consumption and many refuse to realize they are afflicted until it is too late.

It is after colds or sickness, from overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists that tubercular germs thrive because the resistive powers of the body are weakened.

Only with fresh air, sunshine and abundant rich food can one hope to arrest their progress, and the concentrated late in Scott's Emulsion furnish fuel for rich blood, and its rare nourishment helps strengthen the lungs while it builds up the forces.

If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or run-down Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known and is free from alcohol or stupefying drugs. Avoid substitutes.

OUCH! BACHACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR STIFFNESS AWAY

RUB PAIN FROM BACK WITH SMALL TRIAL BOTTLE OF "OLD ST. JACOB'S OIL"

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints!

Yours very truly,

FIRST DRAFT SENT FOR BELGIUM FUND

SIX HUNDRED AND SEVENTY DOLLARS AND SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS FORWARDED.

MORE MONEY NEEDED

Lists Will Be Left For Further Contributions At Various Places—Money Sent to Belgian Minister.

Six hundred and seventy dollars and seventy-five cents, was the total of the first draft sent to E. Haventick, the Belgian Minister at Washington, as the first installment of the Belgium fund for the suffering millions of Belgium. This money will be forwarded by Mr. Haventick to the organized relief committee in New York and be used to purchase part of the supplies for the relief ship that is to sail from the harbor Dec. 1 for Belgium, where they will be distributed by the American Minister to Belgium, Brand Whitlock. The sums raised range from the larger contributions of fifty dollars and more to the little fellow who demonstrated that the appeal for aid had not fallen upon deaf ears. Church members gave liberally and other congregations will doubtless take similar steps later. Two little girls gave of their store twenty cents and persons far more able gave as much as fifty dollars. Nor has the giving been confined to Janesville. Contributions have been received from various parts of the county and letters indicate that more money is to be raised and sent in later.

The need of money is great. The suffering millions of Belgium must be clothed and fed. From all parts of the country the response has been most gratifying and the total will enable the relief committee to disburse food and necessities where it is most needed. The provisions will have to be purchased in this country and will be shipped across the seas. The lists will be left at the four banks, at Baker's drug store and the Gazette office for future contributions and it is hoped that the total sent from this point will total a thousand dollars without difficulty. If at any bank in the county with a request to be forwarded to the Gazette will be cared for as several such sums have been received already. It is not a Janesville affair, it is a matter for the whole country to take part in.

The money forwarded today goes directly to where it is most needed and the following list of contributors sent with those subscribing:

EVANGELIST TALKS TO LARGE AUDIENCE

"Grasshopper Christians" Was the Subject of Mr. Barrett's Address Last Evening.

A largely increased congregation greeted Evangelist Charles F. Barrett and his daughter at the Methodist church last night. Miss Barrett sang "Harkness' 'Jesus." Mr. Barrett held the audience closely with a message on "Grasshopper Christians." Speaking of the return of the twelve spies from the brook Balhol, he said: "What an awful responsibility was that of the ten spies who caused Israel to sin. Even Moses entered not into the land of Canaan. So there is a great responsibility upon the great membership of this church. Like Caleb and Joshua, the few will be true, but will the bulk of this membership be like them? A crisis comes to every individual Christian when he decides whether his life will tell for God or not. What you are in your life is more powerful eloquence than the words that flow from your lips. In a revival a man's words are of no account. It is his life, his character, his example, his influence compared with what that man really is. Every member of this church is responsible for his or her influence. God can not give us a revival unless we move on to our Canaan."

"Do not get a grasshopper view of yourself. Do not allow others, by your actions, to get a grasshopper opinion of you." Mr. Barrett will talk on a Thanksgiving theme Thursday evening.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John Prox.

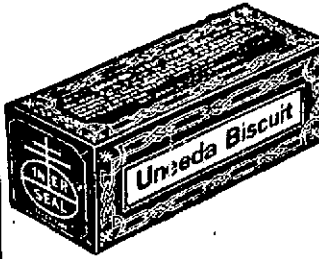

Mrs. John Prox, of Winnebago, Illinois, passed away this morning at two-thirty o'clock at her home, according to word received in this city today. She will be better known to Janesville people, as having been formerly Miss Rose Parr. She leaves two sisters and two brothers in this city to mourn her loss. They are, Mrs. Louis Bier, Miss Genevieve Parr, and Messrs. Louis and Charles Parr. The remains will arrive in this city on Friday morning, and it is expected the funeral will be held from the St. Mary's church. Interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

MISS IVA FABER ESCAPES FROM MENDOTA ASYLUM

Last evening an official from the state hospital for insane at Mendota, was in Janesville searching for Miss Iva Faber, a former Janesville young lady, who escaped from the hospital Monday evening last. It was said Miss Faber gained her liberty through breaking a window. No trace of her has been found by the local police department as yet. She is about thirty years of age, and wore a blue skirt and white shirt waist, at the time of her escape.

RECEIVE INVITATION FOR RIVER CONGRESS

Janesville Officials Asked To Attend Three Important Municipal Conventions.

Invitations have been received by the Janesville city council to attend personally or to name a representative for several important conventions on municipal congresses, which will be held in Chicago, Washington and Baltimore. Mayor James A. Fathers received a request from James H. Preston, mayor of Baltimore, Maryland, to attend or name a representative for this city, for the commercial congress to be held in that city. On January 27th the officials will leave New York city on a special boat, and will encircle South America, visiting the principal cities and places of interest in the continent on their return trip, will be made through the Panama canal.

The eleventh annual convention of National Rivers and Harbors Congress will be held in Washington, D. C., on the 9th, 10th and 11th of December. Last year George S. Parker represented Janesville at this convention, urging the improving of Rock river into a navigable waterway.

Members of the council are planning to attend the national road congress which will be held in Chicago late in December. Mayor Fathers stated that he expected to attend at least one day of the session and Superintendent of Streets P. J. Goodman expects to attend the convention all three days. Advanced ideas and methods of street construction and maintenance will be discussed by national experts. Next year the commission plan extensive street improvement, and the latest modes of construction are wished.

MAKING HANDKERCHIEFS FOR CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

Here is an idea for the woman with many Christmas gifts to make.

A dainty handkerchief edged with the added advantage of quickness of execution—an item of importance as holiday dress nearer—can be made this way.

Roll a small hem and, using mercerized embroidery cotton in some attractive color, overcast around the hem first in one direction and then in the other. The threads will then be crossed, giving a pretty effect with very little work. The stitches should be from one-eighth to three-sixteenths of an inch apart.

It may be pulled about an inch from the edge and a colored thread run in if desired. The line of color inside the overcasting makes a very attractive handkerchief. But if this thread is to be run in it should be done before the hem is put in.

HOW TO MAKE APRON FOR TRAVELING PURPOSES

An apron to hold toilet articles when traveling makes a very useful Christmas holiday gift. The first advantage of the apron lies in the fact that it can be tied on. Its second advantage lies in the number and character of the pockets. This apron is merely a collection of pockets topped by a band and strings. Their arrangement and size depend on individual taste.

Cloth or buck twining is a convenient material to use because of the ease with which it can be turned up the desired depth and the pockets may be made simply by machine stitching. The top may be hemmed, hemstitched or finished with an embroidered scalloped, then turned down and a tape or ribbon used as a belt. A rubber lining should be placed in the pockets designed for wash cloths, tooth-brush, etc.

ENTRIES ARE IN FOR RED CROSS HORSE SHOW

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Nov. 25.—Entries closed today for the big society event of the year—the Horse Show, which will be held on December 7 to 12 at Madison Square Garden.

This show this year will be of an unusual character inasmuch as the proceeds are to be given to the Red Cross and White Cross Societies. It is said that this will be the last Horse Show to be held in this city for the National Horse Show Association announced some time ago that the event would be abandoned and it is only on account of the critical situation in Europe that the function will take place this year.

To guarantee it against loss a number of horsemen throughout the country have come forward to protect the show against a possible loss. They are: Dr. Thomas O. Ashton, Philadelphia; John L. Bushnell, Springfield, Ohio; Felix M. Warburg, New York; William Phelps Eno, Washington; Frederick Babst, Oconomowoc, Wis.; Willis Sharp Kilmer, Birmingham, N. Y.; Mortimer Schiff, J. Horace Harding, George C. Clausen, Paul Moore, Thomas L. Watt, Charles F. Hubbs, John E. Bowman, William Koch, John Gerken, William Ziegler, Jr., G. Jason Ward and Samuel W. Taylor, editor of the Rider and Driver.

EXPERIMENTAL ASSOCIATION MEETING IN DECEMBER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 25.—The annual meeting of the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment association will be held here Dec. 8-10, month or two earlier than usual. This will permit of exhibits which are shown here at the Panama-Pacific exposition. The principal address will be made by Joseph W. Wing of Chicago. Other speakers are George E. Davies, superintendent of schools at Ashton, and Prof. A. N. Ten Eyck of Rockford, Ill., author of "Wheat Growing."

Charles A. Krause of the Milwaukee Milling company will donate a trophy to the grower of the largest ear of pure bred corn shown. Liberal cash prizes and special awards will be given to the best exhibitors. Every farmer in the state may exhibit.

RUSSIA TO TRANSPORT CHINESE LABORERS TO WORK IN LARGE CITIES

[Correspondence of The A. P.]

Seoul, Korea, November 25.—The Russian Government intends to transport a large number of Chinese coolies to Moscow and Petrograd as laborers are scarce in those cities on account of the war.

The cattle market has been opened in the vicinity of Hankyang and a large exportation of cattle to Russia is taking place.

The growing importance of Fushan as a shipping center is evidenced by the decision to build another big dock and shiprepairing yard at that port. Formerly all vessels had to be sent to Japan for repairs.

MAY BAR FOREIGN NAMES OF FOREIGN NAMES IN GERMANY.

[Correspondence of The A. P.]

Berlin, Nov. 25.—A patriotic campaign to bar from Germany all foreign names of diseases now designated in the Russian language has been inaugurated. It is urged that Latin or Greek terms be used if no German equivalent exists. A committee is suggested to draw up a list

WHITWATER HONORS ITS STATE CHAMPS

Victorious Football Eleven Are Treated Banquet Last Night After Big Victory at River Falls.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Whitewater, November 25.—The victorious Normal School football eleven enjoyed a fine supper at the home of Merton Ridge on Tuesday evening. President Yoder and Coach Scriber and Oatfield were present and made it a most memorable occasion. There has been a spirit of jubilation rejoicing ever since the ringing bells announced the 13 to 0 score which gave the local team the state championship of the Normal schools. Coach Scriber took the boys to see the Wisconsin-Illinois game at Madison last Saturday night. The team returned on the evening train with the champions and the rest of the student body was on the White-water street to the post office, thence west on Main street, where the team was met by a large crowd. Several merchants gave old boxes and barrels were taken to this athletic field for a second celebration by bouffe. Later the young people were fully re-creating for a dance. On Monday evening a banquet was held at the school at which time Fred Duncomb and Earl Paynter were present, both using crutches, as neither one has fully recovered from the injuries sustained some weeks ago. They were taken to Merton Ridge's last night to share in the fun.

Mrs. Lyman Stephens made a business trip to Janesville on Monday. There will be a service at the First Church of Christ Scientist Thursday morning and special music will be sung by Mrs. Erlow Loofoor of Milton Junction.

John Kewiger of Milwaukee will spend Thanksgiving day with his father's family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kreuger.

Mr. and Mrs. Erlow Loofoor of Milton Junction will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Stephens Thursday morning. All four of them will take the afternoon train for Janesville to visit Mr. and Mrs. James Zantias, who give a Thanksgiving dinner of fifteen covers on Thursday evening.

A. E. Cook and wife, who is a sister of Mrs. Charles Lyman, came from Madison last Friday to spend a few days with the Lyman family, returning to their home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Halverson will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Clemmons and family of Eagle over Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Halverson will be the guests of Janesville friends on Thursday.

Mrs. Margaret Roby went to Milwaukee Tuesday to visit her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Burr Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Partridge and Herbert Partridge of Milwaukee will spend the twenty-sixth of November with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Partridge.

John A. Brandon is spending a brief vacation in his family.

Mrs. Gilbert Anderson returns today from Madison where she has visited her father's family and helped to celebrate his 89th birthday on the 25th of November.

Mrs. S. D. B. Schultz and her daughter Miss Harriet, have returned to their home on Main street.

O. B. Williams, who has been very ill since Sunday, has better today.

Miss Margaret Dinsmore of Beloit visited Miss Grace Smith for a few hours on Monday.

The Edward Engelbreiten family will eat Thanksgiving turkey with Mrs. Engelbreiten's brother, Clarence Steele and family, at the farm north-west of the city.

The western sky was aglow with red light on Monday evening, showing the wheelbarrow of a burning marsh between Lima and Milton. It was reported the fire was started by sparks from the afternoon train, and many people watched the unusual sight as the light leaped up to a great height only to die down again very quickly, repeating this again and again as the wind fanned the flames. With vegetation so dry and inflammable, a fire of this kind might be wrought should one of these fires get beyond control.

There will be a Thanksgiving service Thursday evening at seven-thirty in the First Congregational church. Rev. C. I. Andrews will have charge of the service and all people of the community are urged to be present.

George Coburn of Winnetka, Wash., came Friday to join his family at the L. H. Coburn home. Mr. Coburn is displaying a fine apple crop to eastern buyers. He had several boxes of splendid fruit shipped to Whitewater and many who attended the fair held on Saturday at the Congregational church were able to purchase apples of unusual size and flavor. He has placed the fruit on sale with one of the local grocers, where all may be tempted to buy the choice red and yellow specimens of western fruit.

Professor and Mrs. A. A. Upham and daughter Miss Ethel Upham went to Baraboo today to visit the E. F. Dittman family over Thanksgiving.

Miss Cora, Countess of Lima was a Whitewater visitor today.

Miss Alice Keith spent Wednesday in Lima with her brother's family, the Lindbaums.

Mrs. Julius Tratt and Mrs. Roland Lindbaum went to Janesville Wednesday for the day.

Eating When Others Are Through

Is Not Gluttony, But Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Enable You to Have Such An Appetite.

In these days of high pressure most men and women eat very little and a good old fashioned eater sits at table after all have left it.

The best way to get such an appetite is the Stuart way—the natural way.

Landlady: "Ever since Jones took Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets I've lost money on him."

If your stomach can not digest your food, what will? Where's the relief? The answer is in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to thoroughly and completely digest 3,000 grains of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these tablets are going to digest all the food and whatever food you put into your stomach?

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are carefully made to supply every element lacking in a system afflicted with dyspepsia, indigestion, gastritis, stomach trouble, etc., and to aid healthy systems to digest difficult food at unseasonably hours.

Just carry one of these little tablets in your purse or pocket. After every meal, no matter when eaten, you have always at hand the assistance that nature will relish and thrive upon.

In this manner one may eat all manner of food, attend late dinners, etc., and feel no serious results afterwards.

Thousands of travelers always have a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at their grips and are thus enabled to eat unaccustomed meals at any and all times.

Surely there is nothing so well adapted to sufferers from food follies as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the greatest proof of this fact lies in the assurance that one can purchase a box at any drug store anywhere in this country.

A small sample package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will be mailed free to anyone who will address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

PLAN MANY CHANGES IN STATE GAME LAWS

Stricter Legislation Protecting Deer Proposed.—Shorten Season and Protect Does.

Some very decided changes in the game laws are to be proposed at the coming session of the legislature. The question which will attract the most attention will be that of greater protection for deer, and not only will the bill which has been offered several times previously, to prohibit altogether the shooting of does, be presented, but another measure will be introduced which will limit the deer season to ten days and thus reduce the open season for deer hunting to exactly one-half the period at present allowed.

The strong argument that has always been raised against the reduction of the open season for deer has been that a limited season for deer hunting greatly increases the hazard of the sport by compelling all the hunters who desire to go after deer to hunt at the same time.

People, however, who have made a study of the game problem in this state declare they do not think the danger will be increased and that as a matter of fact most of the hunters who go after deer start into the woods on the first day of the open season anyway.

It is claimed also that the shorter season would merely mean that the hunting parties would not remain in the woods the entire twenty days or at least until each member of the party had bagged the single deer allowed by law.

No attempt will be made at the coming session to repeal the law prohibiting the shooting of ducks in the spring. Supporters of spring shooting have become convinced, it is said, that there is no chance for the passage of a law restoring spring shooting and have therefore decided to abandon the long fight which has been made for a restoration of spring shooting.

The fact that the courts have decided that the owners of riparian rights do not control the marshes on meandered streams and that hunters cannot be prevented from shooting outside of the water line has had a great deal to do with reconciling the citizens of the state generally to the spring shooting law, as hunters now have an opportunity to shoot on marshes which it was formerly attempted to keep as private preserves.

There are some changes to be proposed in the fishing as well as the hunting laws, but they will not be as important as the amendments which are desired to the hunting laws. Strong opposition is certain to be felt limiting the shooting of deer to bucks, as many hunters claim it is absolutely impossible to distinguish the does from the bucks in the timber. Several hunting societies, however, are very much in favor of a law protecting the does from hunters.

AMERICAN MILITARY MEN DECLARE MULE POWER BEST HERE

One Branch of Service Giving Serious Attention to Motor Traction for Army Use.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, Nov. 23.—The American army mule need have no fear for his laurels because of the great part gasoline motors have played in transportation problems of European armies in the present war. Until American roads generally are brought up to the high standard of the roads of Germany, France, Belgium and other European countries, the army mule will determine through his capacity for hauling, the limitation of operations for American military forces.

Only one branch of the United States army is giving serious attention to motor traction. In the quartermaster's department experiments are being made, particularly along the Texas border, with handling supplies in motor trucks. Motor trucks are in general use of course about army posts and wherever good roads are available; but when manœuvres take the columns into the field and the sandy or muddy highways, the six-wheeled mule is still master of the transportation situation.

A few years ago it was determined to experiment with motor transportation as a means to increase the radius in field artillery. The most available subject for this purpose was the battery wagon, carrying the forces for gun repairs and horse shoeing and also the saddle's equipment. One such wagon accompanies every battery in the field. It is a heavy trail along in the rear of the column and does not go into action. Thus its activities are largely confined to roads although the battery itself must go cross lots by field and stream and take position against an approaching hostile force.

General Crozier, chief of the army ordnance bureau, designed a motor battery wagon which was tried out in maneuvers. It was found that for it was so heavy that it broke through bridges, sunk to the hubs in soft roads and generally hampered the battery to which it was attached. The experiment was abandoned and the ordnance bureau is now content to await the results of the experiments of the quartermaster's department in self-propelled army transportation units. Mules and horses are good enough for American artillerymen as yet.

In connection with the newest heavy siege pieces designed for the American army it was proposed recently to experiment with European gasoline traction engines. Arrangements were under way for the importation of one of these at the time the European war broke out. Now every engine of that character has been turned to actual use abroad, and instead of importing automobiles or motor trucks, the United States is shipping them abroad for the use of armies there.

In many ways, army officers believe, the present war will have little effect on the development of American military transportation equipment. The armies of Germany, France, and to some extent England are equipped to fight in the highly developed territory which is the present theatre of war. Transfer them to the interior of the United States and the greater part of their motor equipment and much of their heavy artillery would be found almost useless. It is said they would have to be re-equipped with horse and mule transportation. The difficulties encountered by German troops who crossed the Russian border, officers say, were those of transportation. Poor roads made it impossible for them to move guns and supplies as their tactical training directed. Several big guns were lost without having fired a shot, it is reported, because they could not be withdrawn swiftly. The United States army employs motorcycles to some extent for orderlies carrying messages. Even this is limited by road conditions, however, and while suggestions for a motor-cycle corps have been made, serious attention has not been given to the subject as yet. A cavalry horse still answers the purpose of the army better than any other means of communication by orderlies.

"DOGS OF WAR" USED BY AMBULANCE CORPS

French Make Valuable Use of Canines on Battlefield to Aid Wounded Soldiers.

[Correspondence of The A. P.]
Paris, November 25.—Lovers of dogs will be gratified to know that so imposing an organization as The Institute of Zoological Psychology reports that the dogs that accompany the French ambulances are behaving well under fire. The director of this institute testifies: "All reports are most encouraging. Some of the details of their instructions may be open to question. It is probably bad that they should be taught to bring in the caps and handkerchiefs of wounded soldiers, but our dogs of war are performing noteworthy service and it is a pity that we have not many more of them."

The leader of one section of the ambulance dogs says: "The best dog given to me at first pulled so hard on the lash that he tired me out, he would not always return on the first call, a trick that would be unfortunate under fire. He was terrified by distant artillery and it appeared as if he would be useless in action. But in a week that dog was valuable beyond words. I have today returned with him from recovering wounded soldiers almost in the enemy's trenches with incessant din all around him. Tonight just before the ambulances were to return I took him out for one hour. In a half hour he found three soldiers who otherwise might have died of exposure. Moreover, he never touched one of them but ran back and forth till I came up to him."

General Crozier, chief of the army ordnance bureau, designed a motor battery wagon which was tried out in maneuvers. It was found that for it was so heavy that it broke through bridges, sunk to the hubs in soft roads and generally hampered the battery to which it was attached. The experiment was abandoned and the ordnance bureau is now content to await the results of the experiments of the quartermaster's department in self-propelled army transportation units. ## GOVERNMENT KEEPS CLOSE TAB ON WAR'S BUSINESS EFFECTS

Chamber of Commerce Keeps Business Community of Country Informed on War Developments.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Nov. 25.—Through the close co-operation with departments of the Federal government here, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is keeping virtually the entire business community of the country fully informed of all developments of the European war that reflect directly upon the commerce of the United States, domestic or foreign.

The national alliance of more than 600 commercial organizations was created early in 1912. The membership of the chamber stretches into every nook and corner of the country. Its members are great and small organizations of commerce in every state and every commercially important city of the union. Their total individual membership passes the quarter million mark and every line of the industry in the country is represented.

With the outbreak of the European war the need of specific information as to its probable and actual influence on business conditions was very urgent. Under the direction of Elliott H. Goodwin, general secretary of the National chamber, the clerical force organized here to form a clearing house of national business conditions, information on business conditions, was augmented and its energies directed to meeting the emergency. The bi-weekly bulletins sent out to members were increased in scope. They took up subject by subject problems of neutrality regulations, contraband proclamations by warring powers, congressional enactments to meet war emergencies as they developed, the banking situation, cotton crisis and every new factor affecting business, brought up by the war. Twice a week members were given, specifically to developments in each case. The chamber has a force of trained men at work among the departments following up every clue to information and they are meeting with ready assistance from department officials. Some of the information sent out is of a very confidential character and to protect it, publication of the bulletins is forbidden.

Now a systematic study of the foreign commerce of the belligerent powers to determine just where openings lie for increasing American foreign trade has been begun. Additional bulletins are being prepared, country by country, showing, for instance, just what articles comprised Germany's trade with her present enemies or with neutral countries.

Exhaustive investigation of American, British, German and other statistics for preceding years is being made and lengthy comparative tables have been issued. The work is still going on and as it progresses manufacturers of any article will be able to see at a glance just what opportunities await them in any country.

Paralleled almost day to day with the financial situation in foreign countries, showing where moratoria exist and their duration, what embargoes on exportation have been declared and to what extent war operations have interfered with commerce in any direction, the charts are said to have proved of a most illuminating character to the American business world. They bring down to specific details the broad inquiries of the government.

An Ear Trumpet Gone.
Old Bill Sykes says that all of the equal suffrage talk he has heard lately reminds him of Obed Hamburg's lamp chimney. Obed had a lamp chimney that was twenty-eight years old. It was a fine chimney, but it was an ear trumpet. It was aimed by Obed that you couldn't break his lamp chimney, but one night he went to hear an ekeel suffrage speaker down to the town hall and took along his lamp chimney. The speaker got right down into the front seat.

He was holding the thing right close to his ear and was nodding his head to everything she said till all at once she bellowed: "Down with the tyrant!" and the concussion broke the lamp chimney into forty-seven pieces. That settled Obed, and he is now agin' the whole business.

CONTEST ON OFFICES IN NEW LEGISLATURE

Several Candidates Already Out for Chief Clerk of Senate and Sergeant-at-Arms.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Nov. 25.—There will be a contest for nearly every legislative office of the next legislature. Word has been received here that F. E. Andrews of Bloomer has written letters to some of the senators soliciting support for the position of chief clerk of the senate. He will probably be opposed by Fred M. Wylie of Madison, who has held that position for the past three sessions. Former State Senator O. G. Williamson of Virgatus is also mentioned in connection with this position, but definite word has not been received here as to whether he will be a candidate.

Charles Leitch of New Lisbon, who has been sergeant-at-arms of the senate for the past three sessions, is a candidate for the position again. He will be opposed by R. C. Falconer of Camp Douglas, who held the position for two terms.

Several candidates have already been mentioned for speaker. Assemblyman Axel Johnson of Turtle Lake was here a few days ago to obtain information regarding the political complexion of the assembly. He said at that time that he would probably be a candidate. Assemblyman Lawrence Whittet of Edgerton and George Hambrecht of Grand Rapids are mentioned as candidates of the more conservative wing of the republican party. Assemblyman Ray J. Nye of Superior, who was a candidate two years ago, will probably re-enter the race, and from political gossip he will have much of the support of northern Wisconsin members that is claimed by several other candidates. Assemblyman A. E. Frederick of Kendall, better known as the "fighting parson," and Assemblyman J. H. Johnson of Milwaukee have also been mentioned as possible candidates for speaker. There is a report here that either Edward Nordman of Polar or John B. Helm of Madison may receive the complimentary vote of the democratic party for the speakership.

So far no apparent opposition has developed to the re-election of E. C. Shafer of Madison as chief clerk of the assembly, and William Irvine of Greenwood as sergeant-at-arms of the assembly.

GOVERNOR TO MAKE ONLY APPOINTMENTS

No Changes Expected in Other Departments of State Government
After January 1st.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Nov. 25.—Outside of the executive office few changes will be made in the different departments of government on Jan. 1, when the new administration is inducted into office. It is understood that Secretary of State John S. Donald will resign, L. B. Noyes as assistant secretary of state, that State Treasurer Henry Johnson will resign, A. R. Emerson of Belmont as deputy state treasurer; and that Attorney General Walter C. Owen will make no changes in his present staff.

Since the organization of the state in 1848, Emanuel L. Philipp of Milwaukee will be the twenty-third governor of the state. Six other governors have also come from Milwaukee. They are: Governors Arthur McAr, Thur, Edward Salomon, Harrison Ludington, William H. Harrison, George W. Peck and Francis E. McGovern.

Of the twenty-three men who will have served as governors when Gov. McGovern retires from office, seven are still living: William H. Harrison, Ft. Atkinson; George W. Peck, Milwaukee; William H. Upham, Marshfield; Edward Scofield, Oconto; Robert M. La Follette, Madison; James O. Davidson, Neenah; and Francis E. McGovern, Milwaukee.

Twenty-two men have served as lieutenant governors. When Edward C. Bithmar of Baraboo is installed as lieutenant governor he will be the first man from Sauk county who has held that position. Among the lieutenant governors who are still living are the following: Emil Baensch, Manitowish; William H. Conner, Marshfield; John Stranne, Neenah; and Thomas Morris, La Crosse. The death of Thaddeus C. Pound of Chippewa Falls last week removed one of the oldest lieutenant governors of the state. He served from 1870 to 1872.

HALF OF THE WORLD TAKES PART IN WAR

Fifty-Eight Per Cent of Land Surface and Fifty-Six Per Cent of Population Involved in Conflict.

[Correspondence Associated Press]
London, November 25.—With the addition of Turkey and Portugal to the ranks of the belligerents, the area of hostilities has been extended to approximately 38 per cent of the land surface of the globe, and about 56 per cent of the total population of the earth must be classed as technically belligerent, says the London Daily Chronicle.

In round numbers, out of a total land surface of 51,500,000 square miles (excluding the uninhabitable regions in the Arctic and Antarctic) 30,000,000 square miles is occupied by the 11 belligerent powers, and about 1,000,000,000 of the 1,800,000,000 human beings on earth are directly involved in the great war.

Apportioning the area and population between the two opposing groups, it will be found that there is a vast preponderance of both on the side of Britain and her Allies, which own 27,500,000 square miles and have about 540,000,000 people under their rule, against the 2,000,000 square miles and 160,000,000 people to the credit of Germany, Austria-Hungary and Turkey.

If the affected areas are analysed by continents, it will be found that in Europe 3,049,000 square miles out of a total area of 3,859,000 and 380,000,000 people out of 475,000,000—or nearly 80 per cent in both cases—are at war.

In Asia the belligerent area amounts to 9,800,000 square miles (leaving out of account the interior of Arabia—a political no man's land, of about a million square miles), the total area of the continent being about 16,500,000 square miles. Hence over 56 per cent is at war. Of the population of Asia 475,000,000 out of 580,000,000—say 82 per cent—must be classed as belligerent.

Africa is proportionately, even more affected than Europe. About 11,500,000 square miles out of 11,700,000 nearly 90 per cent—and 125,000,000 of the 137,000,000 inhabitants—over 90 per cent are at war. The only neutral regions are the Italian and Spanish colonies, and the native states of Abyssinia and Liberia.

Curiously enough, Australasia and Oceania, although the most remote from the primary zone of hostilities, have the highest percentage of belligerent.

For discipline to her she metes out severe punishment, but to her obedient daughters she is the best of nurses. And sleep and oxygen will freshen it and rejuvenate the tired body.

erency of any of the continental divisions of the earth, over 95 per cent in area, and 94 per cent in population.

South America occupies the happiest position of all. Out of an area of over 7,500,000 square miles and a population of about 52,500,000 only 125,000 square miles of territory and 350,000 human beings are subject to any of the combats.

The percentage of area is less than 2 and of population less than 1. Thus the continent whose very name was formerly regarded as denoting the most favorable soil on earth for the germination of wars has, strangely enough, the distinction of being almost entirely at peace, while more than half of the world is at war.

For Tired Nerves.
Plenty of sleep and plenty of fresh air will do all the necessary doctoring for the tired nerves. Old Mother Nature is very kind to her children unless they try to her face. For discipline to her she metes out severe punishment, but to her obedient daughters she is the best of nurses. And sleep and oxygen will freshen it and rejuvenate the tired body.

On The Spur of The Moment

The Cubist.
The Cubist artist neared the bitter end; In all the world he'd not a single friend.

His cash was spent, his heart was filled with fear, And hunger's touch was dangerously near.

The flowing river drew him to its side; But, just before the Cubist would have died,

A politician chanced along the way And saw his work and quickly bade him stay.

The Cubist now is well-to-do, and Fawcett Has laid her laurels on his work and name.

He won it all himself, and won it fair, By painting politicians on the square.

Uncle Abner.
Some people think they have an artistic temperament when all they have is an artistic temper. There ain't nothing that breaks up the harmony of any occasion like a red necktie.

Elmer Jones doesn't care what anybody says about him. He has bought a pair of white shoes. There ain't a wax figger in a store window that looks as good as the genuine article.

There is one thing that a lot of people will never have to pay, and that is an income tax. Any feller who in turn down a book agent in less than ten minutes is going to succeed in anything he undertakes.

The trouser skirt with pockets is the latest thing for winter wear. Ways knowned they would wear 'em, sooner or later.

Men in the country go to bed with the chickens. Very true, but that is some better than going to bed with the snakes, as some of their city cousins do.

Signs of the Times.
The fellow who says the European war is drawing to a close is the same one who says we are not going to have any cold weather this winter.

If Carranza goes attack the United States, the reason probably will be that he wants to get his name into the American papers again.

A Boston paper wants to know who will be the present of Germany. What's the matter with Prof. Hugo Munsterberg?

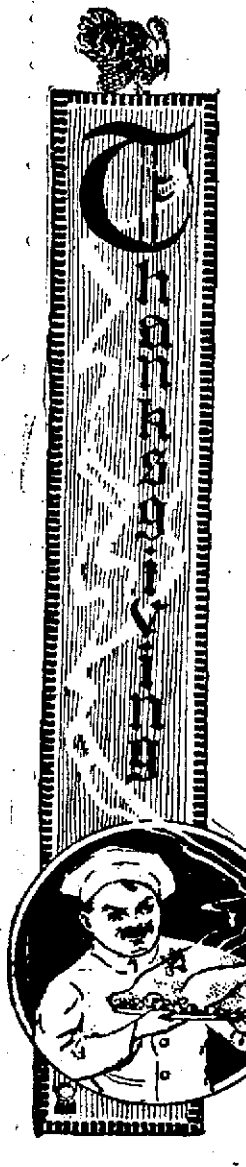

Washington won't look like the same old town to Uncle Joe Cannon when he gets back there. Where's Nelson Aldrich?

Copper has been declared contraband of war, but this doesn't mean that you cannot send a cent to Belgium.

There is a lack of material for making soft hats for men. Civilization is going to be set back several decades if all men are forced to wear derbies.

It will be lonesome for Uncle Joe Cannon in Washington. All his lovely-companions are faded and gone, as were those of the last rose of summer.

Now that Turkey has formally "annexed" Egypt, there seems to be no reason why Mexico should not

Thanksgiving Day

Is there a person living who has not got something to be thankful for?

One has but to look around a little to appreciate his many blessings:

Have you ever stopped to think how thankful we all should be for being able to go to the proper place (if we would) and give thanks in the old fashioned way that it was meant that we should when the first Thanksgiving Day was instituted.

Do it tomorrow and after the service think back a year and compare your feelings with the state you were in mentally when you did not attend a Thanksgiving service.

It simply means the giving up of about 90 minutes of the day.

Thanksgiving Day is the accepted time to give thanks and your heart may need warming up.
